Learning Outcomes

Upon completion of this conference, participants will be able to:

- Identify the options on how to treat surgical complications.
- Recognize the target pressure concept and gonioscopic aspects in glaucoma management.
- Identify causes of diplopia after retinal detachment repair.
- Recognize the treatment options in vitreomacular interface disorders.
- Discuss how pseudoexfoliation is a systemic disease.
- Note the theoretical concerns about cataract surgery in an eye with AMD.
- Differentiate the four entities of VMI disease using OCT.
- Identify the atypical features in glaucoma patients that warrant consideration of neuro-ophthalmic diseases.
- Generate a differential diagnosis in patients with cancer presenting with neuro-ophthalmologic symptoms and signs.
- Recognize that fluid on OCT is an important parameter that clinicians use to monitor therapy with anti-VEGF medications.
- Assess correlation of optical coherence tomography & Cognition (OCT).

Target Audience

This conference will be of interest to practicing general ophthalmologists, as well as sub-specialists and other ophthalmic health care professionals.

Dubins' Memorial Lectureship

The Dubins' lectureship was established in 1983 to honor the late Henry B. Dubins, a caring and generous member of the clinical faculty of the Department of Ophthalmology at the Albany Medical College. Dr. Dubins was a leading figure in the ophthalmology community for more than 30 years, serving as Chief of the Ophthalmology Department at Child's Hospital and President of the Eastern New York Eye, Ear and Throat Society.

This year marks the 31st Annual Dubins' lecture. This year's distinguished Dubins' lecturer is Stanley Chang, MD.

Stanley Chang, MD, is the K.K. Tse and Ku Teh Ying Professor of Ophthalmology at Columbia University Medical Center. He completed his residency at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, and fellowship at Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. From 1995-2012, he was Chair of Ophthalmology at the Edward Harkness Eye Institute, and now remains an active faculty member. Dr. Chang has developed and pioneered several revolutionary surgical approaches to treat complicated forms of retinal detachment, improving outcomes for patients worldwide. He was the first to use perfluoropropane gas in the management of retinal detachments caused by scar tissue proliferation (PVR) on the retina. He developed perfluorocarbon liquids, a 'heavy liquid' used in flattening retinal detachment, and the related surgical techniques for vitreoretinal surgery. In collaboration with Avi Grinblat, he developed a panoramic viewing system and led in the worldwide adaptation by retina surgeons to this technique. He is the recipient of several honors including the Hermann Wacker Prize from the Club Jules Gonin, Helmerich Prize from the American Society of Retinal Specialists, the Lifetime Achievement Honor Award and the Charles Schepens Lecture from the American Academy of Ophthalmology, the Jackson Memorial Lecture and the Alcon Research Institute Award. Consistently named as one of America's best doctors, Dr. Chang was selected as National Physician of the Year by the Castle Connolly Guides in 2008.
