GOAL

Join your colleagues and gain the latest updates and practice guidelines in cardiovascular care! This full-day symposium offers a comprehensive review of new diagnostic techniques and therapeutic treatments, the latest clinical trials, and state-of-the-art technology in contemporary cardiovascular medicine using concise didactic presentations, combined with a panel discussion and case presentations. Electronic handouts will be made available to conference attendees.

Following this course, the participant should be able to formulate a practical approach to common cardiovascular disorders; identify the appropriate tests that can be used to determine the severity of the patient problem and make an accurate diagnosis; discuss the various treatment options available; and recognize how to treat and when to refer cardiac patients. This activity is expected to result in increased confidence in making a diagnosis and providing effective treatment, referral, and follow-up care with the overall goal of improving patient outcomes.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Family physicians, internists, cardiologists, cardiovascular thoracic surgeons, nurses, allied health professionals, and other health care professionals who treat and care for patients with heart disease will benefit from attending this educational activity.

OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, the participant should be able to:

- Review the indications for various pacemakers
- Discuss the effects of pacemakers on patients and the implications for patient care
- Describe the current role of renal denervation for the treatment of hypertension
- Summarize the benefits of bio-absorbable technology in the treatment of coronary artery disease to improve patient outcomes
- Review an unusual presentation of myocardial infarction from a patient's perspective
- Describe the advantages of early treatment for myocardial infarction
- Recognize and assess early signs and symptoms of myocardial infarction to facilitate early treatment strategies
- Identify various aortopathies and describe how surveillance plans can reduce morbidity and mortality
- Review areas of cardiovascular disease and treatment
- Review cutting-edge and interesting cases in cardiovascular medicine
- Identify risk factors for endocarditis
- Discuss options to prevent, diagnose, and treat endocarditis
- Describe the benefits of a multidisciplinary approach to prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of endocarditis
- Review current data and regulations related to readmission of myocardial infarction and congestive heart failure in the era of "pay for performance"
- Implement patient education and communication strategies to improve patient compliance with treatment regimen
- Review areas of cardiovascular disease and treatment
