World Federation of Public Health Associations - WFPHA

The World Federation of Public Health Associations (WFPHA) is an international, nongovernmental, multi-professional and civil society organization bringing together public health professionals interested and active in safeguarding and promoting the public's health through professional exchange, collaboration, and action.

Founded in 1967, it is the only worldwide professional society representing and serving the broad area of public health, as distinct from single disciplines or occupations. WFPHA has more than 100 Members – national and regional public health associations, regional associations of schools of public health and other organizations committed to the goals of public health sustaining Members.

The Federation's membership represents more than 200,000 public health practitioners and professionals world-wide. At present, WFPHA's member associations comprise a multi-faceted diverse community and includes physicians, nurses, pharmacists, policy-planners, government and private sector administrators, researchers and academic professionals. Members have the benefit of interacting on global issues and challenges with international agencies through advocacy and participation at other global events.

Indian Public Health Association-IPHA

The Indian Public Health Association (IPHA) is a public health professionals association that envisions the promotion, protection and attainment of an optimal standard of health for the people of India. It promotes better public health services and high professional standards through advocacy, professional competence and extensive networking. IPHA is committed to improve population health and environmental conditions in India through dedicated and active involvement of the organization and its members and through collaboration with stakeholders.

The Indian Public Health Association was inaugurated as an all-India body in 1956. The focal objectives were: promotion and advancement of public health and allied sciences in their different branches in India, protection and promotion of public and personal health of the people of the country and, promotion of co-operation and fellowship among the members of the Association. Other major areas include education and training, dissemination of knowledge by organizing conferences and meetings, promoting research and training and other activities.

Dear Friends,

Greetings on behalf of the Indian Public Health Association's National Organizing Committee for the 14th World Congress on Public Health.

The 14th World Congress on Public Health will be a unique event with participants from around the world contributing to create transformative beneficial changes in people's health and well-being.

The theme of the Congress 'Healthy People-Healthy Environment' offers a perfect springboard for discussion on current public health concerns. We are very happy to have received over a thousand abstract submissions from more than fifty countries! This significant five-day event will facilitate sharing experiences, exchanging knowledge, debating, discussing and learning about effective policies, programmes and best practices in support of public health.

Governments of different countries and leading international agencies including the WHO Regional Office for Southeast Asia (SEARO) are collaborating as partners in this endeavour.

Many exciting events like the Solutions Platform for showcasing innovative initiatives, Student Sessions and Mentor Meets will be included in the programme.

We request all of you to join us to make this global event successful.

We look forward to meeting you in Kolkata in February 2015!

Dr Madhumita Dobe

Organizing Secretary
14th World Congress on Public Health

Dr J Ravi Kumar

Co-Chair, International Organizing Committee
14th World Congress on Public Health

The 14th World Congress on Public Health

The World Congress on Public Health is the World Federation of Public Health Association's flagship triennial global knowledge exchange event. First held in 1975, the World Congress is organized by the WFPHA in collaboration with national public health association members of the Federation. The Congress is a major international event supported by the World Health Organization (WHO) and several UN Agencies including UNICEF.

The 14th World Congress on Public Health takes place 11-15 February 2015 in Kolkata, India. The theme Healthy People-Healthy Environment offers a perfect springboard for discussions about how the global community of Public Health associations can, in partnership with governments at all levels and other stakeholders, develop, implement and evaluate the impact on health outcomes of public and private sector policies, programmes and practices that affect human health.

Congress participants include delegates from national and regional public health associations, schools of public health and other health-related NGOs. Representatives from the public and private sectors handling challenges in public health from around the world will participate.

Congress Highlights:

- Several pre-eminent keynote speakers, including Dr Poonam K Singh (WHO SEARO Regional Director), Sir Michael Marmot (Chair of the WHO Commission on Social Determinants of Health), Nobel Laureate Dr R K Pachauri and Dr K Srinath Reddy (President, Public Health Foundation of India)
- Over 1000 abstracts received from more than 800 individuals from 54 countries
- Solutions Platform exhibition with thematic pavilions to showcase initiatives and best practices in Public Health
- Hugh Leavell Award Lecture, being the prestigious WFPHA Award in recognition of significant contribution to Public Health
- Pre-Congress Skills-building workshops on 10 and 11 February
- Pre-Congress Student meets - vibrant multidisciplinary public health forum for sharing and learning on 9 and 10 February
- Field visits to learn first-hand about public health programmes at local health facilities and humanitarian agencies
- Interactive and participatory consultations on public health issues of concern globally and in the South Asian region
- Fun Night and cultural events for leisure and relaxation

Tours and Daily Excursions

Kolkata

Kolkata is the capital of West Bengal - the state which traditionally has been India's centre for science, literature and the arts. Some of India's world-renowned figures - Rabindranath Tagore, J. C. Bose, Raja Ram Mohan Roy, Ravi Shankar, Sri Aurobindo and Amartya Sen come from West Bengal.

Kolkata was the capital of India during British colonial time. The city's documented history begins with the arrival of the English East India Company in 1690, when the Company was consolidating its trade business in Bengal. While the city's name was always pronounced "Kolkata" in the local Bengali language, its official English name was changed from "Calcutta" to "Kolkata" in 2001, reflecting the Bengali pronunciation.

India offers a wondrous array of scenic splendours and is a beautiful country to explore. Participants and accompanying persons attending I 4th WCPH can savour the delights of Kolkata and India, through the specially designed tours and daily excursions that have been carefully crafted by the organisers.

Visa Information

Types of Visa

An entry visa is essential for all foreigners visiting India. There are several types of visa available. It is recommended that those travelling specifically for the 14th World Congress of Public Health should apply for a Conference Visa.

Accompanying Family Persons are not entitled to attend the conference sessions and should apply for a Tourist Visa, for which the processing time is much less.

Online Visa form

Indian Embassies, Consulates and High Commissions, now require visa applications to be made online. This can be done from the Indian Government website: www.indianvisaonline.gov.in/visa/

Important: For citizens of Afghanistan, China, Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Sudan and persons of Pakistan-origin currently holding citizenship of any country - these participants must complete their passport details on the online registration form, and apply for a Conference Visa more than 60 days before the start of the Congress, by 7 November 2014. The Congress organisers are required to send the passport details of these participants to the Ministry of Home Affairs for scrutiny. This scrutiny takes 45-55 days.

When to apply

It is advisable to apply for a visa well in advance, but not earlier than 3 months before the date of the conference. If approved, a single entry Conference Visa will be issued. Please note that the validity of a visa begins on the day it is issued. The date of entry into India is not considered by the embassy when issuing the visa, even though it is asked for on the visa application form. A Conference Visa is normally valid for three months after it is issued, but the minimum duration is at the discretion of the Embassy.
