HIGHLIGHTS, BENEFITS, & OBJECTIVES

Now in its 21st year, “Pharmacology for Advanced Practice Clinicians,” continues to be the “go-to” outpatient pharmacology course, whether you are applying for or renewing prescriptive authority or renewing your ANCC certification. Our Principal Instructors, Alan Agins, PhD and Jody Agins, MSN, RNP, FNP/GNP-BC,WCC, have designed a comprehensive course which addresses the pharmacology and therapeutic uses of current medications used for primary care, as well as common clinical issues and concerns related to prescribing.

HIGHLIGHTS AND BENEFITS OF THIS COURSE INCLUDE:

- ▶ 7 information-packed days with up to 52.5 hours of pharmacology content, taught by experienced clinical faculty and incorporating a case-based approach, allowing you to meet the ANCC’s new rules for re-certification as well as many states’ requirements for prescriptive authority.* Daily registration is also available.
- ▶ A Pediatric Pharmacology Preconference, focusing on medications and prescribing regimens specific to caring for children in the outpatient setting. The Pharmacology Course’s primary focus is adults in the outpatient setting, so plan to attend this Preconference if you need additional knowledge about prescribing for children.
- ▶ California BRN Schedule II Controlled Substances educational requirements are included in the San Francisco and Las Vegas courses.

*States’ requirements for prescriptive authority vary. Please contact your State Board of Nursing regarding educational requirements.

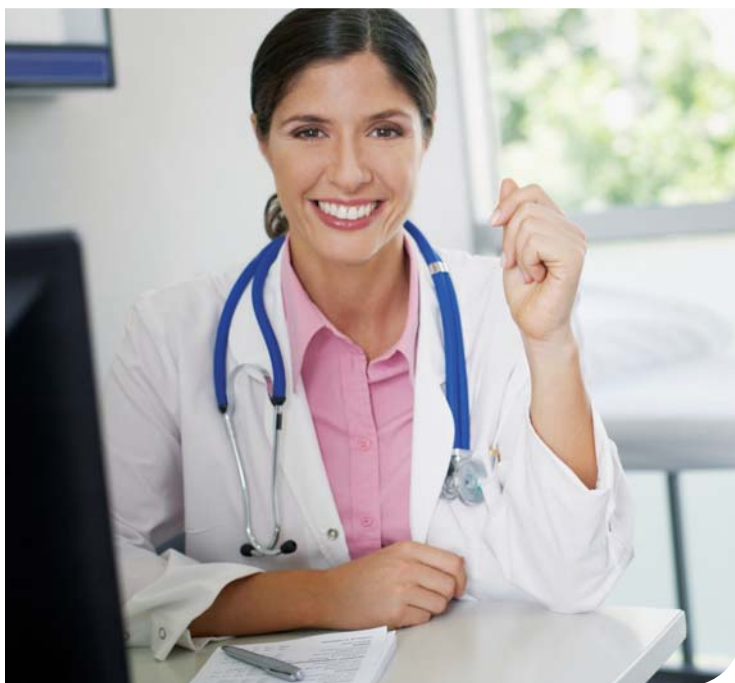

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- | | |
|------------------------------|---------------------|
| ▶ Nurse Practitioners | ▶ Registered Nurses |
| ▶ Certified Nurse-Midwives | ▶ Nurse Educators |
| ▶ Clinical Nurse Specialists | ▶ Physicians |
| ▶ Physician Assistants | ▶ Pharmacists |

... AND ANYONE ELSE INTERESTED IN A COMPREHENSIVE PRIMARY CARE PHARMACOLOGY UPDATE.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- | | |
|--|---|
| ▶ Explain the pharmacodynamics and pharmacokinetics of drugs and select dietary supplements used to treat outpatient primary care conditions. | ▶ Demonstrate clinical application of the pharmacology content through case study discussion. |
| ▶ Discuss pharmaceutical options and therapeutic regimens for maximizing effectiveness while minimizing adverse reactions, including monitoring of the patient’s response. | ▶ Provide appropriate patient education regarding drug therapy. |
| | ▶ Review the professional and legal aspects of prescribing and furnishing drugs. |

Extremely informative! The most up-to-date information on pharmacology presented by experts in the field. Great review and I also learned many new things!

PEDIATRIC PHARMACOLOGY UPDATE

(RX = 7.5 HRS.)

Keeping up with information on the medications you prescribe when caring for children is indeed a challenge. Plan now to join your colleagues for what promises to be an information-packed day on drugs used for common pediatric health problems. Taught by three clinicians and educators, this update will enable you to better:

- Identify medications and prescribing regimens for common and complex pediatric health problems.
- Anticipate potential side effects and adverse reactions and discuss their management.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of a variety of treatment regimens through interactive case study sessions.

PRINCIPAL INSTRUCTORS AND ADDITIONAL FACULTY

Dr. Alan P. Agins earned a Ph.D. in Pharmaceutical Sciences from the University of Rhode Island. He has held faculty appointments at Brown Medical School, Northeastern University School of Pharmacy and University of Virginia School of Nursing. During his tenure at Brown, he received the “Dean’s Teaching Excellence Award” over five consecutive years for his outstanding pharmacology lectures. As founder and President of PRN Associates, Dr. Agins has lectured nationally to more than 80,000 advanced practice clinicians and allied health professionals over the past 20 years. He is the author of 3 books, writes pharmacology-related articles and continuing education monographs and presents weekly live CE webinars for pharmacists through RxSchool (AMN Healthcare). In addition, Dr. Agins has recently launched Pharmacology One-on-One, a continuing education website containing originally produced videos that are unique, informative and entertaining.

Jody F. Agins, MSN, RNP, FNP-BC, GNP-BC, WCC received her MSN/Family Nurse Practitioner from the University of Kansas. She has held faculty appointments at the University of Kansas, Truman State University and Arizona State University. Mrs. Agins is board certified by the ANCC in Family Practice and Gerontology as well as wound care certified through WCEI. She is currently in private practice in Tucson, is the clinical services director for Agape Hospice and Palliative Care and also serves as a primary care provider for CareMore Touch (WellPoint). Additionally, she is a healthcare consultant and President of Seminars for Healthcare Education, Inc. Mrs. Agins is a clinical preceptor for Family and Geriatric Nurse Practitioner students for University of Phoenix, University of Arizona and Arizona State University and is currently on the editorial board for Clinician Reviews.

The “take-home-message” that Dr. Agins and Mrs. Agins attempt to instill is to adopt a profound respect for, but also cautious attitude about drugs - what they can do ... and what their limitations are. After many years “on the road” and every conceivable pharmacology question from their audiences, they maintain their great sense of humor and wit, as well as a unique talent for breathing life into dry or difficult subject matter. Their goal is to make this course memorable, informative and enjoyable ... essentially the very best pharmacology CE experience for everyone who attends.
