COURSE DESCRIPTION

The conference is intended for dermatologists, although primary care physicians with a special interest in dermatology are welcome to attend. The course is designed to provide high-level continuing education for dermatologists, keeping them abreast of new and exciting findings in basic science, clinical dermatology and dermatologic therapy. We are fortunate this year to have an outstanding group of lecturers speaking on a wide range of clinical applications.

Please join us for this 25th anniversary conference. To celebrate, all registrants will be entered into a raffle to win a tuition waiver for the 2015 course. We hope to see you at what promises to be another great educational experience!

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

1. Discuss how to safely implement treatment for newborns with cutaneous vascular anomalies.
2. Identify and manage reactions to new cancer treatments.
3. Describe how to align and adjust practice in order to remain an effective and successful dermatologist.
4. Describe how to successfully maintain your certification.
5. Identify facial changes that can be restored to baseline with laser and fillers.
