Optimal treatment options for the edentulous patient using the All-on-4® treatment concept

As patient demands rise for a cost-effective, minimally invasive solution to treat edentulism, clinicians are looking at the options available to meet patient expectations. The All-on-4® treatment concept offers a viable implant-based solution for the edentulous or soon-to-be edentulous patient that produces shorter treatment time, higher case acceptance, and immediate patient satisfaction. This treatment concept utilizes four to six implants per arch and allows for delivery of a fixed screw-retained prosthesis the day of surgery. This course will present surgical and prosthetic considerations of the All-on-4® treatment concept, including Immediate Function and full-case rehabilitation. It is intended for all members of the dental team: the surgeon, the restoring clinician, and the laboratory technician. All members have a role in the treatment process and those roles will be highlighted and discussed.
