A Practical Guide to Getting the most out of Radiology Information Systems and PACS Delivering the Paperless and Filmless Hospital

Tuesday 9 December 2014 Manchester Conference Centre, Manchester

"Today I want to argue that we need to go much further, much faster. So today I am setting a new ambition for the NHS. I want it to become paperless by 2018. The most modern digital health service in the world." Jeremy Hunt, Health Secretary

"Access to accurate, timely and comprehensive information can transform the quality and efficiency of healthcare through improved clinical workflows, increased care optimisation and greater patient involvement. It is increasingly the hallmark of a modern, high quality healthcare system." NHS England, May 2014

This one day conference will not only examine how to work with PACS and RIS beyond the National Programme but will also discuss getting the most out of Radiology Information Systems and PACS through effective workflow and systems design, and how to integrate them with other Trust systems and Electronic Patient Records in the development of a paperless and filmless NHS. There will be a focus on improving the clinical end user experience, interoperability standards, data localisation and migration and the role of information systems in moving towards a 7 day service.

The chairman Dr Tony Newman Sanders CCIO Croydon Health Services & PACS National Clinical Lead Health & Social Care Information Centre will open the day with a national update looking towards a paperless and filmless hospital and also discuss further opportunities for redesigning radiology services such as 7 day working and home reporting. The conference will continue with presentations focusing on ensuring continuity, improving the effectiveness of PACS reporting and order communications, getting the most out of PACS, improving the end user experience and improving workflow and processes to ensure systems work intelligently.

You will also have the opportunity to hear from a variety of healthcare professionals on topics including how to improve the effectiveness of PACS reporting and order communications; re-evaluating security controls and information governance with wider sharing of information across the health economy and private sector; as well as a case study from Hammersmith who will discuss their experiences of being the first UK filmless hospital.
