CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

Driven by scientific evidence, healthcare professionals understand that treating the body alone is not enough, and that the human mind and resources outside the realm of allopathic medicine can also play a critical role in preventative care and the healing process. Our conference on Integrative Medicine for Primary Care Practice is designed to take an in-depth look at how to achieve optimal health and healing for patients through a variety of complementary alternative modalities, and provide mainstream medical and nursing professionals with evidence-based data, including placebo response data and studies. Emphasis will be placed on practical application of the topics presented.

Topics for this year's conference have been selected based on the educational needs determined from the identified professional practice gaps. The gaps were derived from a variety of sources including evaluations and outcomes data from past participants; clinical expert input; Symposia Medicus' online survey; and other medical and nursing data.

Conference format will include didactic lectures, smaller group breakout and interactive sessions, case studies, and question and answer sessions.

An outstanding faculty has been assembled for this conference. Each member was selected based on their individual area of expertise and ability to communicate current, evidence-based and practical information to participants.

You are sure to enjoy our conference on Integrative Medicine for Primary Care Practice while sharing ideas and experiences with colleagues from across the country in the quaint setting of Manchester, Vermont.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

As a result of participating in this conference, you should have increased knowledge and enhanced competence to...

- Recommend best alternative therapies for pain management
- Identify herbal and bio-identical hormone options to better manage menopause symptoms
- Apply integrative approaches to patients with chronic fatigue and fibromyalgia
- Identify complementary therapies for depression and anxiety
- Integrate mind-body techniques into common pediatric treatment plans

ACCREDITATION

This educational activity was planned and produced in accordance with the ACCME and ANCC Essentials and Standards relating to continuing medical and nursing education.
