GI Issues for the Primary Care Physician

Saturday, February 22, 2014

Ronald Reagan UCLA Medical Center
Tamkin Auditorium, Los Angeles, CA

$75 / $50 / $25 Registration

GI Issues for the Primary Care Physician will provide clinical updates on the diagnosis, management and palliation of various gastrointestinal and liver disorders through formal lectures and question and answer sessions. UCLA digestive disease faculty will share their specialized expertise and audience participation is strongly recommended. This agenda has been specifically designed to offer practical approaches and solutions that healthcare professionals may readily integrate into their daily practice.

Course Objectives

Following completion of this program, participants should be able to:

1. Discuss the differential diagnosis and management of common gastrointestinal and hepatic disorders
2. Incorporate novel IBD treatment strategies into clinical practice
3. Apply the updated colon cancer guidelines to the screening and surveillance of colon cancer

Disclosure Statement/Declaration

The FDA has issued a concept paper which classifies commercial support of scientific and educational programs as promotional unless it can be affirmed that the program is “truly independent” and free of commercial influence. In addition to independence, the FDA requires that non-promotional, commercially supported education be objective, balanced, and scientifically rigorous. The policy further states that all potential conflicts of interest of the CME staff and faculty be fully disclosed to the program’s participants. In addition, Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education policy now mandates that the provider adequately manage all identified potential conflicts of interest prior to the program. UCLA fully endorses the letter and spirit of these concepts.
