9:00 Chairperson's Welcome and Opening Remarks

Sesha Neervannan, Senior Vice President, Pharmaceutical Development, Allergan
Ann Daugherty, Senior Manager, Genentech

9:15 OPENING KEYNOTE

John Nosta, Founder, NOSTALAB

John Nosta is the founder of Nosta Lab, a health care "innovation think tank" that focuses on the emergence of digital health and the implications to health, wellness, medicine, and the pharmaceutical industry. A leading voice in the convergence of technology and medicine, Nosta helps define, dissect, and deliberate global trends in digital health. He's a member of the Google Health Advisory Board. He is also the #1 Kred-ranked social media influencer in health, and in the top 10 of both the Pharma100, HIT100 lists, as well as MM&M's 2015 "Top Healthcare Transformer." John also has penned HEALTH CRITICAL for Forbes—a top global blog on health and technology.

11:30 3D Printed Medicine: From Research to Revolution

Don Wetherhold, Chief Executive Officer, Aprecia
Mahendra Patel, PhD, Chief Scientific Advisor, Aprecia (Former CSO, Sandoz)

In this session Aprecia will present our journey from the development of 3D Printing at MIT in the late 80's to the application of this revolutionary manufacturing technology for tissue engineering and drug delivery at Therics in the 90's to the eventual approval of the first 3D Printed pharmaceutical product 30 years later. Along the way there were many important learnings and Aprecia will share some of our critical decisions in the face of significant challenge. Ultimately, we achieved commercial scalability for our novel product formulation and manufacturing platform and will conclude the session by imagining the various ways our technology may evolve to help the industry address unmet patient needs in the future.
