ACTIVITY INFORMATION

COURSE DESCRIPTION

The clinical neurosciences are undergoing rapid changes in the diagnosis and treatment of neurological disorders, particularly those concerning surgical treatment options. This course is designed for neurologists, internists, family practitioners, neurosurgeons, pain management and rehabilitation specialists, oncologists and allied healthcare professionals to increase awareness of both established and emerging treatment options for brain tumors, epilepsy, degenerative neurological disorders such as Alzheimer's Disease, spinal disorders, and stroke management.

The program will present the treatment options in an interdisciplinary fashion using plenary lectures and case presentations. This symposium will offer participants an opportunity to engage in interactive discussions with renowned faculty who are involved with initiating these neurological advances.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

- Utilize the latest evidence for the prevention of brain diseases and recognize the role of cognitive performance in health and disease
- Consider emerging technologies for brain cancer and Alzheimer's Disease
- Utilize thrombolytic therapy for stroke in indicated therapeutic window and age groups
- Implement new practices in my clinical setting to reduce cardiovascular events in my patients
- Realize a stabilization of symptoms in patients diagnosed with chronic neurologic diseases based on new recommendations
- Apply new diagnostic approaches and management options for patients with epilepsy and/or refer to a comprehensive epilepsy center
- Consider new developments in the management of brain metastases when creating a treatment plan
