Overview

Although the goal of every clinician is organ preservation, a total laryngectomy is often unavoidable in patients with advanced stage laryngeal and hypopharyngeal cancer or recurrent disease. Fortunately, the quality of life following a total laryngectomy is very good provided surgical and rehabilitation efforts are optimal. Over the last several decades considerable progress in voice, pulmonary and olfaction rehabilitation of the total laryngectomy patient has been made. This course will share current trends and practices in post-laryngectomy rehabilitation. A cadaver dissection lab offers attendees a unique and powerful learning experience in surgical techniques for total laryngectomy and trachea-esophageal puncture. Additionally, a hands-on lab with patient volunteers provides attendees the opportunity to learn techniques of tracheoesophageal prosthesis replacement and management.

Learning Objectives

- By attending this program participants will be able to:
- Describe the key surgical techniques of total laryngectomy.
 - Describe and perform the latest in surgical techniques for voice restoration following total laryngectomy.
 - Differentiate between primary and secondary voice prosthesis placement and identify pros and cons of each.
 - Plan the selection of the appropriate voice prosthesis following total laryngectomy.
 - Summarize the benefits of heat moisture exchangers (HMEs) and hands-free valves.

Target Audience

Head and Neck Surgeons, Speech and Language Pathologists, Nurse and Residents involved in the diagnosis and treatment of the laryngectomy patient.

Accreditation
