Palm Beach, Aruba Desert beauty bound by a turquoise ocean. An isle of ancient caves, coral reefs, legendary lagoons, open-air markets, and colorful boutiques. Aruba's diverse cultural heritage makes it a fascinating place to visit and explore. It is not surprising that many of Aruba's popular pastimes involve its blue waters and beautiful beaches. The most famous pastime is windsurfing thanks to the consistent 20-knot trade winds.

Less than a mile offshore, the sea abounds with sailfish, wahoo, yellow and black tuna, and marlin. Sport-fishing trips are widely available. The German freighter Antilia, scuttled at the start of WWII off the northwest coast, is a favorite destination of scuba divers. Shallow gentle waters at Druij and Arashi Beaches where you can see a reef of elkhorn on the sandy bottom are a big draw for snorkelers. Cruise on a glass bottom boat or catamaran which combines a picnic with sightseeing.

Aruba's countryside is dotted with windswept divi-divi trees, cactus, and pastel-colored houses. The Buball Pond bird sanctuary on the west coast attracts a great variety of birds—pelicans, cormorants, wood storks, and long-legged egrets among them. Ride horseback along the ocean shores on highly trained paso fino horses from South America, or kick back and play the Aruba Golf Club near San Nicolas and the new Tierra del Sol course in Arashi, Aruba's first world-class golf course designed by Robert Trent Jones II.
