The Medical Management of HIV/AIDS

December 7-9, 2017

This course provides the active intermediate-to-advanced clinician with a comprehensive review of the science of HIV and HCV as well as updates on the application of HIV and HCV therapies. For ambitious newer clinicians who want a challenge, we will still offer our New Clinicians' Track (NCT), which provides four additional lectures that cover antiretroviral therapy (ART), basic HIV pharmacology, ART resistance and opportunistic infections.

The course lecturers are leading clinicians and researchers who are also dedicated to teaching in their areas of expertise. Dr. Diane Havlir will frame the conference in the opening plenary with her keen take on the "Top Ten Issues in HIV Medicine". Dr. Daniel Douek will share the progress we have made toward a cure for AIDS, and long-time AIDS activist and scholar, Mark Harrington, will speak on the vital role that activism plays in the AIDS epidemic.

Dr. Susan Buchbinder will provide the underpinnings of prevention efforts and explore future therapies, followed by Drs. Susa Coffey, Hyman Scott and Jonathan Volk, who will highlight the clinical expansion of appropriate and successful PrEP and RAPID administration.

Day 2 and 3 will be filled with important teachings in regard to the effective administration of ART beginning with Dr. Monica Gandhi's talk on the "State of the Art of Antiretroviral Use". The topic of Dermatology and HIV will be covered by Dr. Toby Mauer while "Research Frontiers in HIV Cardiology", delivered by Dr. Priscilla Hsue, will complete Day 1 of the conference.

Day 2 begins with Dr. Annie Luetkemeyer leading the expanded Hepatitis section followed by Dr. Marion Peters who will answer our most complex liver questions. We will continue our small group sessions dedicated to those treating HCV with separate beginner and advanced sessions as well as a joint pharmacology session taught by Dr. Parya Saberi. These case-based formats will address the issues that arise in the care of chronically infected patients including the safe administration of new, even more efficacious therapies.

Effective treatment of drug, alcohol and smoking behaviors, is critical to our patients' health. Dr. Katherine Grieco will address the exciting evolution of available therapies for these issues. Dr. Paula Lum and colleagues Drs. Soraya Azari, Scott Steiger and Jackie Tulskey will hold a 1.5-hour small group session to emphasize the important principles of safe and effective treatment for substance use and pain management. Dr. Deborah Cohan will update us on "HIV Reproductive Health for Women and Men" and Dr. Madeline Deutsch will cover "Transgender Health".

On Day 3 we will continue to explore how to manage complications common in HIV medicine, with Dr. Vivek Jain speaking on hyperlipidemia, while STI's will be covered by Drs. Susan Philip and Stephanie Cohen. Dr. Jagannathan will continue to address 'Well-being and Health'. Three new course faculty members join us this year including Dr. Felicia Chow, who will update us on "HIV Neurology"; Dr. Lee Rawitscher, who will guide us through complex psychiatric issues that we often manage and Dr. Chia-ching (Jackie) Wang will bring us up to speed on HIV Oncology.

On Day 3, you will also be able to privately test your antiretroviral judgment and compare your clinical choices to those of the master clinicians on our ART panel led by Dr. Oliver Bacon. Dr. Joel Palefsky will wrap up the course with his update on anal HPV. Primary Care topics will be woven throughout the course and this 3-day conference will provide the breadth and depth of topics relevant to the field of HIV Medicine.

The HIV, ID and Global Medicine Division, Zuckerberg San Francisco General Hospital and Trauma Center, Department of Medicine, University of California, San Francisco, and the School of Medicine present this symposium.
