THE PERILS AND POSSIBILITIES OF SCORPIONS

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 16 – 8:30AM

KEYNOTE SPEAKER: DR. LAUREN ESPOSITO

Both feared and admired, scorpions are notorious animals around the world. Yet, in the 21st Century, we are in the midst of a renaissance of scorpion biology research—in the past 100 years our understanding of scorpion biodiversity at the species level has increased by an entire order of magnitude. We will explore how new technology is advancing our understanding of scorpion evolution and ecology, what we know about their venoms, and how much there is left to unravel.

Dr. Lauren Esposito is the Curator and Schlinger Chair of Arachnology at the California Academy of Sciences. Lauren's current research investigates the patterns and processes of evolution in spiders, scorpions, with a focus on tropical islands. Originally from the US-Mexico borderlands, she completed her undergraduate degree at the University of Texas at El Paso, and went on to obtain an MS and PhD from the American Museum of Natural History in collaboration with the City University of New York. Lauren is the co-founder/director of a science, education, and conservation non-profit called Islands & Seas, and the founder of 500 Queer Scientists, a visibility campaign for LGBTQ+ people working in STEM careers.

ACMT Pre-Symposium

Mending a Broken Heart: Cardiovascular Challenges in Toxicology

September 14, 2022

Do you struggle with managing patients in the age of ever-evolving clinical “dogma?” Join us for this one-day ACMT symposium, with leading experts who will get to the HEART of the matter: Huffing, Electrical conduction disturbances, Antidotal therapy, Refractory shock, Troponin’s role in diagnosis--and much more! We’ll explore historical and current controversies as well as the latest research relevant to toxicology. Lectures will be interspersed with heart-stopping debates and case-oriented expert panel discussions. The faculty for this exciting program will share their clinical and research-based expertise and perspective. Register now to keep your finger on the pulse of best practices in cardiovascular toxicology!

After participating in this program, learners will be able to:

1. Describe the cardiovascular toxicity of plant sodium channel openers.
2. Discuss therapeutic controversies in the use of sodium bicarbonate as an antidote.
3. Identify the role of high-sensitivity troponin as a biomarker of cardiac toxicity.
4. Assess the evidence-based merits of adjunctive therapies in the setting of toxin-mediated vasodilatory shock.

MY FAVORITE MURDER... BY POISON

September 15, 2022

True crime lay person analysis has taken the world by storm through podcasts, blog posts, and online discussions. Although murder by poison is not the most common way to kill someone, to a group of toxicologists it can be the most fascinating. In this day of educational content, we will explore homicidal poisonings and hopefully you will gain a little insight on how to not get murdered by poison.

Upon completion of this activity participants will be able to:

1. Discuss lethal poisonings, their mechanisms of toxicity, and their management.
2. Analyze crime scenes in homicidal poisonings.
3. Determine exposure scenarios that increase the likelihood of poisoning as the means of murder.

Public Education Council Track

September 16-18, 2022

September 16, 2022
11:30 AM - 12:30 PM

Social Media Challenges: Understanding Teens' Digital Environment

This session will introduce a litany of recent toxic “challenges” primarily affecting youth and then dive deep into the new hazards (and positive potential) of the new and rapidly evolving digital environment. An expert from Common Sense Media will share insights into the behavior of teens and tweens, their mental health, and how to make a difference in keeping this population safe.

September 17, 2022
1:00 PM - 2:00 PM

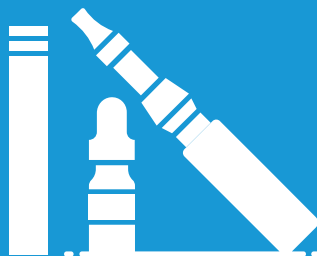

Multimedia Learning & Online Education

In this session, we will introduce the basic principles of effective multimedia learning and the current uses of e-learning in poison centers. We'll then highlight an award-winning online curriculum from Discovery Learning and DEA containing memorable and relatable content on the prevention of opioid abuse. Finally, we'll discuss potential opportunities for expanding the use of multimedia and online education for poison prevention.

September 17, 2022
2:00 PM - 3:00 PM

The History of Nicotine

Nicotine has a long history of use in the United States and throughout the world. Where did it all start? Where are we headed now? Tobaccos addictive nature was recognized early on but it was not until the early 1800's when nicotine was first identified that the true influence of nicotine would become known. This session aims to educate participants on the history of nicotine, health effects, new trends and marketing associated with nicotine products today.

September 18, 2022
9:30 AM - 11:00 AM

Community Partnerships That Work

Building effective community partnerships allow agencies and community members to join together to address a common problem. Building these partnerships help communities recognize poison centers as subject matter experts and a resource for poison emergencies. This session will feature a panel of poison center educators who will discuss poison center partnerships with local community organizations.
