PRESIDENT'S INVITATION

The WSA Annual Meeting aims to provide its attendees updates on new developments and controversial issues in anesthesia, as well as the opportunity to practice skills and earn CME credits.

The theme of the meeting is "Futurology: Recent and Upcoming Developments in Anesthesiology". Dr. Martin Samborski, this year's Program Chair, has invited several regional and national speakers to discuss these topics.

Highlights of this year's schedule include multiple lectures on new drugs, new techniques, new payment systems, new technologies, new legal issues and its impact on you and your future. We will offer workshops focused on bedside TTE, vascular access, and regional anesthesia. Speakers will present on a wide range of lecture topics. Residents from the state's two anesthesiology teaching programs will present at the ever popular "Best of MARC (Midwest Anesthesiology Residents' Conference)" session. There will be an opportunity to enjoy an evening with friends and colleagues during our Saturday night reception.

Additionally, we are honored to have Dr. Jeffrey Plagenhoef, current President of the American Society of Anesthesiologists (ASA), give a comprehensive update on the ASA itself and legislative issues our specialty is facing on a federal level.

This year's Annual Meeting promises to be very exciting and I am looking forward to welcoming you to the Glacier Canyon Lodge at the Wilderness Resort in Wisconsin Dells!

Joshua J. Sebranek, MD
President, WSA

GOALS & OBJECTIVES

After participating in this activity, the attendee will be able to:

- Demonstrate the anatomy of commonly performed upper extremity, lower extremity, truncal, and neuraxial nerve blocks.
- Employ techniques to limit or potentially eliminate the need for transfusion.
- Recognize new technologies present within the cath lab and management of patients with ventricular assist devices.
- Review the physiology of ECMO and discuss recent uses of ECMO technology for cardiorespiratory support.
- Identify patients who would benefit from PECS block for chest wall surgeries.
- Recognize how bedside TTE could aid in anesthetic management of patients.
- Manage neuromuscular blockade with suggamadex and understand the potential pros and cons its use.
- Describe the anesthetic management of patients with newer implantable pain treating devices.
- Explain the current medical legal issues affecting Wisconsin anesthesiologists.
- Understand what MACRA is and how it affects reimbursement for providers.
- Recognize when techniques utilizing tracheal tube introducers can aid in securing difficult airways.
