

Airway Management: Training the Trainer

11th May 2016

RCoA, London

Organiser: Dr Fauzia Mir

Friday 11th May 2016

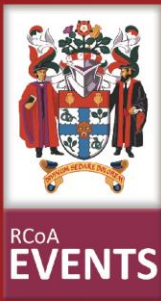

09:00	REGISTRATION AND REFRESHMENTS
09:30	Introduction and overall view of curriculum, courses available and teaching Dr Alistair McNarry
09:50	Icebreaker and team work
10:30	REFRESHMENTS
10:50	Ethics of airway teaching
11:10	Common pitfalls in setting up new courses and how to avoid them
11:30	What do you want to teach- practical, theory, human factors
11:50	How- simulation, lectures, workshops, case discussions • Time available • Budget • How to form your team of trainers • How to structure a teaching session
12:30	LUNCH

13:30 – 15:30	Airway Training Workshops Workstations on how to organise and deliver airway training (30 minutes per workshop)
Station 1	How to set up FOI course
Station 2	TBC
Station 3	Front of Neck Access course set up
15:30	REFRESHMENTS

15:45	How to facilitate discussion- one practical session with case based discussions
16:15	How to set up reflection and feedback activities
16:45	Discussion
17:00	CLOSE OF WORKSHOP

Programme subject to change

WORKSHOP SPONSORS: Freelance Surgical and Karl Storz

Airway Management: Training the Trainer

11th May 2016

RCoA, London

Organiser: Dr Fauzia Mir

Overview

This course is suitable for senior trainees and new consultants who wish to set up or organise airway training within their trust. The day consists of a mixture of lectures and workshops and will cover topics such as:

- What to teach, how to teach it and who should attend the training
- How to use different modalities of teaching for varying budgets and facilities
- How to ensure the course complies with the RCoA guidelines for revalidation
- How to teach in multidisciplinary settings, including how to co-ordinate teams and manage people throughout training
- How to set up non-profit and profit generating courses locally

By the end of this day candidates will be confident in setting up new courses, organizing and delivering effective airway teaching in their hospitals for multidisciplinary teams in a cost effective manner.

Delegate feedback from previous event

- "Excellent balance between theory and practical advice."
- "A very good course, I recommend it for all anaesthetists."

WORKSHOP SPONSORS: Freelance Surgical and Karl Storz