KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

PROFESSOR JONATHAN BARKER

Professor Jonathan Barker is Professor of Medical Dermatology at St John's Institute of Dermatology, King's College London and honorary consultant dermatologist at Guy's and St. Thomas's Hospitals. He specialises in complex hospital based medical dermatology. He is co-director of the severe psoriasis service and Skin Therapy Research Unit. His research interests extend from genetic discovery through to clinical outcome measurement. His work has been funded from multiple sources including European Union, Medical Research Council (MRC UK), National Institute for Health Research, National Psoriasis Foundation, UK medical charities and industry. He is a key investigator in national and international consortia aiming to identify genetic susceptibility to important chronic skin diseases such as psoriasis, acne and eczema and in biomarker discovery of outcomes to interventions.

Professor Barker is the current President of International Psoriasis Council having been a board member and chair scientific subcommittee since 2006. He was head of department at the Institute of Dermatology 2002-2018 and course director of the Institute's MSc Clinical Dermatology for overseas graduates.

Professor Barker has published over 250 peer-reviewed papers, authored and edited several books including the latest (9th) edition of Rook's Textbook of Dermatology. He sits on the editorial boards of several dermatology journals. He is a past President of the European Dermatology Forum and the European Society for Dermatological Research. He is an honorary overseas member of the several national dermatological associations including Denmark, France, Germany, Japan and the USA.

DR RAJ MALLIPEDDI

Dr Raj Mallipeddi qualified from Imperial College School of Medicine, London, UK and completed specialist dermatology training at St John's Institute of Dermatology, St Thomas' Hospital, London, UK. He spent over two years undertaking laboratory research within the Genetic Skin Disease Group at St John's Institute of Dermatology, finally being awarded a Doctor of Medicine degree for the study of squamous cell carcinoma in epidermolysis bullosa.

Upon completion of his dermatology training in the UK, he undertook a prestigious procedural dermatology fellowship at UT Southwestern Medical Centre in Dallas, USA. This provided subspecialist expertise in Mohs micrographic surgery, laser surgery and cosmetic dermatology. This was accredited by the American College of Mohs Surgery of which he is a fellow. Dr Mallipeddi has published numerous scientific articles and lectures widely.

Since 2008 he has been the Clinical Lead of The Dermatological Surgery and Laser Unit at St John's Institute of Dermatology, Guy's and St Thomas' Hospitals, London. He is also the Lead for skin cancer at Guy's and St Thomas' NHS Foundation Trust. Of note he is past President of the British Society for Dermatological Surgery (2015-17) and for the past 5 years he has been the national curriculum lead for Mohs surgery training in the UK. He is also chair of the UK Mohs micrographic surgery service standards and sits on the British Association of Dermatologists national guideline committees for basal cell carcinoma, squamous cell carcinoma and photodynamic therapy.

WORKSHOPS

SPDP1: Practical Skills for Supervisors

PRESENTATION

The session will be 3 hours and will cover the following topics:

- Creating a culture for learning
- Feedback and performance
- Feedback in challenging situations

We encourage anyone who is currently serving as a supervisor, new to supervision, and those who have not previously attended a supervisor workshop, to attend. Attendance at this session can be counted towards your myCPD program.

MPS Workshop Thriving or Surviving? Keys to Avoiding Burnout

DR SAMANTHA KING

Dr Samantha King is a graduate of Otago Medical School. She has worked in General Practice and A&M clinics in Auckland since 1991 and is a Fellow of the College of General Practitioners. She also holds a Diploma of Obstetrics and Gynaecology and a Masters in Healthcare Law and Ethics. She has been with MPS since 2012 and now works full time as a Medical Adviser whilst still doing some clinical work. As a member of the Medical Protection faculty, Sam regularly presents at workshops, conferences and practices throughout New Zealand. Sam is married with 3 children. She enjoys kayaking and fishing.

PRESENTATION

Research has shown that burnout is affecting just over half of New Zealand's senior medical officers. Rising expectations from patients, employers and other agencies in an environment of resource constraint only increases the risk of physician burnout. This session will look at internal factors that put some of us at higher risk of burnout and provide you with some keys to build your resilience.
