

Future of Medicine

Sun 23 – Sat 29 September 2018

The Windsor Court Hotel
300 Gravier St, New Orleans, LA 70130, USA

New Orleans

New Orleans began as a French-Canadian outpost back in 1718 and is now vibrant and alive with its own brand of art, food, and music. With a unique culture that stands apart from anywhere else in the world, the “Big Easy” is renowned for its vibrant live-music scene and spicy cuisine reflecting its history of French, African, and American cultures.

The French Quarter, also known as the Vieux Carré or the “Quarter” to locals, sits on a crescent in the Mississippi River on some of the highest grounds in New Orleans. The French Quarter architecture is a blend of Spanish, French, Creole, and American styles. Enjoy people-watching from the lacy galleries, stoops, and porches of these magnificent buildings.

The French Quarter is the best place to sample the famous Creole and Cajun cuisine. It was here that the Spanish, in an attempt to make paella, created the famous jambalaya dish. No visit to New Orleans is complete without a visit to Café Du Monde. Established in 1862, they serve the most delicious French-styled doughnuts called beignets.

In around 1900, jazz exploded onto the scene in New Orleans. Most consider it the home of jazz, based on the “traditional” style of Dixieland. Today there is an endless supply of world-class jazz and blues plus every other genre on any night of the week – plenty to keep locals and visitors alike entertained!

Windsor Court Hotel

Embrace the elegance of New Orleans when staying at the Windsor Court Hotel.

Surrounded by a city full of history, Windsor Court Hotel is just steps away from the famous French Quarter. Rich in style and French-inspired décor, this elegant retreat embraces the spirit and hospitality of the city.

Close to all the vibrancy of the French Quarter, this award-winning hotel also offers a tranquil escape. Whether exploring their art collection or taking in the view while relaxing at their roof-top pool, the Windsor Court Hotel has you covered.
