Creative Presentations is a masterclass for professionals who would like to develop their presentations skills.

Are you working in a role that requires you to perform presentations and would like to improve your delivery? Do you find presentations anxiety provoking and would like to develop coping strategies? Or do you want your presentations to be more exciting and better understood? If so this masterclass is for you.

The masterclass is designed to provide an increased understanding of the skills and techniques required to deliver dynamic presentations. The course will provide an opportunity for participants to practice and review their presentation skills and techniques and receive constructive feedback. Delegates will be encouraged to develop a creative approach to creating a presentation and consider how best to engage an audience. They will also consider the impact of non verbal and verbal communication and the use of visual aids. As well as participating in a vocal workshop in which they will practice breathing, resonating, articulation and projection exercises.

This masterclass will be led by Becky Simpson and David Schaal who are co directors of Playout a dynamic drama based communications and presentations training company. Playout were pioneers of drama based learning.

Becky Simpson is a professional actor and presenter. She originally trained at the Guildford School of Acting after which she worked both as a professional actress in repertory theatre and as a television and radio presenter for independent TV companies and the BBC world service.

David Schaal is also a professional actor, teacher and trainer. He has made numerous television and film appearances including Eastenders, The Bill, Lock Stock, Grange Hill, The Inbetweeners and The Office. He directs, and has taught voice and acting skills at Italia Conti Theatre School.
