COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course offers a review of important and timely topics in the field of perinatal medicine. Based on a review of the literature, input from our own expert faculty, and analyses from past conferences, we are proud to offer a comprehensive program with topics that include: hypertension in pregnancy, management of labor induction, management of TOLAC, common gastrointestinal disorders in pregnancy, an evidence-based approach to shoulder dystocia recognition and treatment, clinical approaches to nausea and vomiting in pregnancy, electronic fetal heart rate monitoring, and a host of other topics. Lectures by USC faculty from the Keck School of Medicine and distinguished guest faculty from the St. Thomas Midtown Hospital in Nashville, Tennessee and Tufts Medical Center in Boston, Massachusetts will outline controversies, discuss recent developments, and suggest recommendations. Participants will have direct access to the speakers and ample opportunity for intensive question and answer post-lecture discussions.

TARGET AUDIENCE

The program was developed for gynecologists, obstetricians, perinatologists, neonatologists, nurses, nurse midwives and other allied health professionals. It is USC's mission that this educational opportunity provide participants with objective, evidence-based clinical content to incorporate into their practices and improve the clinical care and further the well-being of their patients.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of the course, participants will be able to:

- Assess current literature regarding the management of shoulder dystocia.
- Formulate a practical plan to manage gastrointestinal disorders in pregnancy.
- Describe and incorporate a treatment plan for thyroid disease in pregnancy.
- Apply practical tips to thoroughly assess and manage nausea and vomiting in pregnancy.
- Describe a practical approach to diagnosis and management of stillbirth.
- Assess the controversies surrounding the ARRIVE trial and labor induction.
- Implement a plan to manage pregnancies complicated by cancer.
- Construct a practical algorithm for the management of obesity in pregnancy.
- Apply a standardized approach to fetal heart rate monitoring terminology, interpretation and management.
- Describe the risks and treatment strategies for infectious diseases in pregnancy.
- Explain the strategies to address disparities in maternal mortality.
- Classify the management of operative vaginal delivery.
- Assess the role of emergency surgery in modern obstetric practice.
