Invitation

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

On behalf of the Organizing Committee of the 10th Asia-Pacific Pediatric Otolaryngology Society Conference (APPOS 2025 Seoul), hosted by the Korean Society of Pediatric Otorhinolaryngology (KSPO), we are delighted to invite you to Seoul, Korea, on November 8th and 9th, 2025. All our members warmly welcome you and extend this invitation to all professionals dedicated to pediatric ENT.

The APPOS conference (formerly APOG) is a key event for sharing advancements, innovative techniques, and research in pediatric otolaryngology. Our theme, "Small Patients, Big Progress: Uniting Experts in Pediatric ENT," highlights our commitment to dynamic discussions and knowledge exchange. The program includes panel discussions, and symposia on a wide range of pediatric ENT topics. This conference aims to foster collaboration and new partnerships, benefiting both seasoned practitioners and young researchers.

In addition to the scientific program, social events will offer opportunities for networking and personal connections. Seoul, with its blend of tradition and modernity, provides a perfect backdrop. Attendees can enjoy the city's rich history, cultural sites, and technological innovations. The conference venue is also a place of great cultural and historical significance. We thank the sponsors and partners for putting great effort in making this conference possible.

We look forward to welcoming you to Seoul for the APPOS 2025 conference. Together, we can advance pediatric otolaryngology and improve children's lives across the Asia-Pacific region.

Thank you, and see you in November 2025.
