Melbourne Mental Health Conference 2018

An Essential 2 Day Update for All Nurses and Midwives

Need for Program

People who enter a general health care setting with a physical health complication and have a concurrent mental illness must receive comprehensive care. The ability of nurses and other health professionals to provide holistic health care to all people with a co-existing mental illness is highly dependent on a sound knowledge base. There is a timely need for an evidence-based update on a range of common mental health disorders and conditions so as informed health professionals are better positioned to support a person with a mental illness.

Purpose of Program

To provide nurses and other health professionals, who work across a range of general healthcare settings, with a comprehensive update on common mental illnesses so as to improve a person's health outcomes.

Learning Outcomes

At the conclusion of this program it is expected that the participants will be able to:

- People in your care who have a concurrent mental illness will experience a trauma-informed approach to care
- Your improved understanding of mental illness will result in greater patient satisfaction in general healthcare environments
- People hospitalised with a physical health complication who have a concurrent mental illness will feel safe and secure as a result of practical techniques being employed
- Establish clear personal boundaries and maintain them to promote a strong, safe therapeutic alliance
