8th World Congress of Gerontology and Geriatrics
International Conference

HEALTHY AGEING IN THE
CHANGING WORLD® 2025

12th October 2025,
J.N Tata Auditorium
Indian Institute of Science,
Bengaluru, India.

“Not Too Old to Be President”

-Bernie Sanders

Dr. V.P. Rao
Convenor,
8th World Congress on
Gerontology & Geriatrics - 2025

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

Key to the success of any country's health services is the skill base within the health sector. There is a worldwide shortage of qualified physicians and nurses, and these sought-after professionals are increasingly leaving their native lands to pursue better career opportunities abroad. Countries that have acknowledged the shortfall in medical personnel and the attendant health challenges and implications might find it useful to identify their current and anticipated human resource needs within the health sector and to collaborate with the education and training sectors to ensure that sufficient numbers of qualified health professionals are available to meet domestic demand. Planners must identify strategies for attracting and retaining doctors and nurses. It is essential that the changing age profile of a country be taken into account when evaluating the potential for producing sufficient numbers of clinicians and other professionals to meet evolving health service needs.

Dr. Dominic Benjamin,
Chairman,
8th World Congress on
Gerontology & Geriatrics - 2025

- Ensure that all older persons can live with dignity and security, enjoying access to essential health and social services and a minimum income through the implementation of national social protection floors and other social investments.
- Support communities and families to develop support systems which ensure that frail older persons receive the long-term care they need and promote active and healthy ageing.
- Practical Advice on Managing/ Optimizing Non Communicable Diseases.
- Overwhelming burden of disease in older persons such as non-communicable diseases (NCDs), Ischemic heart disease, stroke and chronic lung diseases which are the biggest killers. Visual and hearing impairment, dementia and osteoarthritis which are the main causes of disability.

BENEFITS OF ATTENDING:

- Exchange ideas and network with leading geriatricians, gerontologists, healthcare providers, geriatric nurses and researchers from more than 40 countries
- Discuss quality initiatives that can be applied in the practice
