Join us in September for Rheumatology News, Internal Medicine News & Family Practice News' 11th Annual Perspectives in Rheumatic Diseases CME/CE conference. We explore the latest advances in the treatment and management of rheumatic diseases. This conference is an opportunity to catch up on new developments and practical solutions in this complex area of medicine. Leading experts will present clinically relevant information that you will find immediately useful in the care of your patients. Connections among rheumatoid arthritis, psoriatic arthritis, spondyloarthropathies, and psoriasis will be explored. Sessions will also focus on gout, lupus nephritis, vasculitis, and gastroenterological issues, as well as the management of pain that affects patients with rheumatic diseases. Don't miss our highly animated case session.

Interactive sessions offer attendees the chance to ask difficult questions and discuss patient-care options with the experts.

Choose Your Track for the Friday, September 14 Breakout Sessions:

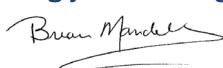

- Rheumatology Track • Primary Care Track

Don't miss the 11th Annual Perspectives in Rheumatic Diseases Conference, September 14-15, 2018. The format is interactive, informal, and relaxed, encouraging a free-flowing exchange of ideas and practical solutions for the busy clinician.

We look forward to seeing you in Las Vegas in September.

Daniel E. Furst, MD

Brian F. Mandell, MD

Iain B. McInnes, FRCP, PhD, FRSE, MedSci MD

THIS CONFERENCE IS FOR YOU

Rheumatologists, family practice physicians, internists, nurse practitioners, physician assistants, registered nurses and pharmacists.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

After completing this live activity, participants should be better able to:

- Identify the various cytokine pathways that underlie the process by which rheumatoid arthritis develops and progresses and that serve as potential targets for therapy.
- Develop effective protocols for conducting laboratory studies and incorporating their results to improve outcomes in patients with rheumatoid arthritis.
- Discuss current ACR/EULAR guidelines for managing rheumatoid arthritis, including the treat-to-target approach.
- Design effective treatment strategies for managing rheumatoid arthritis
- Create a treatment plan for psoriatic arthritis that incorporates tools for assessing the impact of psoriatic arthritis and that anticipates the potential need to switch or augment therapy.
- Describe the safety and efficacy of available agents for psoriatic arthritis.
- Demonstrate awareness of current guidelines for management of psoriasis.
- Clinically distinguish between the various types of axial spondylitis.
- Outline treatment plans for psoriasis that consider the use of new agents, with new mechanisms, and that include strategies for modifying treatment as needed based on results and patient satisfaction.
- Differentiate among the dermatologic manifestations of rheumatologic conditions and design appropriate treatment strategies for properly selected patients.
- Establish treatment plans for gout that achieve targeted levels of serum uric acid.
- Recognize evidence-based recommendations for dosing urate-lowering therapies to optimize efficacy in patients with gout.
- Integrate imaging options to aid in the diagnosis of gout.
- Compare and contrast the safety, efficacy, and mechanisms of various agents available for managing pain in the context of autoimmune disorders.
- Design effective treatment strategies for the various manifestations of localized and systemic scleroderma.
- Summarize current and emerging research on the mechanisms of the pathology of systemic lupus erythematosus and lupus nephritis.
- Review data from clinical trials – including failed trials – on candidate therapies that target various pathways involved in systemic lupus erythematosus.
- Identify work/life balance strategies for reducing clinician burnout so as to improve satisfaction and continue delivery of effective patient care.
- Outline the current and emerging therapeutic options that target established and newly recognized pathways in the pathogenesis of axial spondyloarthropathies including ankylosing spondylitis.
- Design effective multidisciplinary strategies for managing gastrointestinal complications in patients with autoimmune disorders.
- Identify the potential gastrointestinal complications that commonly emerge in the setting of rheumatologic disease, including those induced by immunological therapies.
- Clinically identify various forms of vasculitis, IgA and Granulomatosis with polyangiitis (Wegener's), and how to institute appropriate therapy in patients of all ages.
- Identify diagnostic and therapeutic approaches in the management of inflammatory muscle diseases.

INDEPENDENT SATELLITE SYMPOSIA

There will be several independent satellite symposia during the two days of Perspectives in Rheumatic Diseases. These symposia are independently organized and CME/CE credit is not provided for these sessions. Satellites do not conflict with any educational sessions. For the satellite schedule, please see the conference website in the satellite symposia section.

Global Academy for Medical Education, Postgraduate Institute for Medicine, and the University of Louisville, reserve the right to modify the program content, faculty and program activities. We also reserve the right to cancel the activity if necessary. If the activity is cancelled, liability is limited to the registration fee.

ACCREDITATION AND DESIGNATION STATEMENTS

PHYSICIANS

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of the University of Louisville School of Medicine and Global Academy for Medical Education, LLC. The University of Louisville School of Medicine is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing education for physicians. The University of Louisville Office of Continuing Medical Education & Professional Development designates this live activity for a maximum of 14.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

AAFP Credit

This Live activity, 11th Perspectives in Rheumatic Diseases presented by Family Practice News, Rheumatology News & Internal Medicine News, with a beginning date of 09/14/18, has been reviewed and is acceptable for up to 13.5 Prescribed credits by the American Academy of Family Physicians. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

ABIM MOC Points

Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn 14.0 MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine's (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program. Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider's responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC credit.

JOINT ACCREDITATION STATEMENT

In support of improving patient care, this activity has been planned and implemented by the Postgraduate Institute for Medicine and Global Academy for Medical Education. Postgraduate Institute for Medicine is jointly accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education (ACPE), and the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC), to provide continuing education for the healthcare team.

CONTINUING PHARMACY EDUCATION

Postgraduate Institute for Medicine designates this continuing education activity for 14.0 contact hours (1.4 CEUs) of the Accreditation Council for Pharmacy Education. Type of Activity: Application

CONTINUING NURSING EDUCATION

The maximum number of hours awarded for this Continuing Nursing Education activity is 14.0 contact hours. Pharmacotherapy contact hours for Advanced Practice Nurses will be designated on your certificate.
