The Australian and New Zealand Society of Occupational Medicine (ANZSOM) is pleased to announce the 2016 Annual Scientific Meeting to be held at Noah's on the Beach, Newcastle, New South Wales. Conducted over three days and providing a diverse range of topics and learning formats, the conference is a key educational and networking event for health professionals working in the field of occupational medicine and workplace health.

The ANZSOM conference is well regarded as a practical 'hands on' meeting, and this year's event is no exception, drawing on numerous local industries and experts to provide a balance of theory and practical application. Key themes include health surveillance, mental health in the workplace and health promotion. The conference will continue to address the needs of the diverse range of professionals in this field including medical and nursing professionals.

Highlights will include a keynote address by Professor Brian Kelly, who is Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Newcastle. A preliminary program will be available shortly.
