

Preventive Medicine 2017 Preliminary Schedule

Preventive Medicine—the annual meeting of the American College of Preventive Medicine—is the premier event for professionals in disease prevention and health promotion. The meeting advances the science of preventive medicine through state-of-the-art educational programming.

The Preventive Medicine 2017 conference theme is “Achieving Health Equity through Prevention.” The annual meeting will explore the many ways we are working to achieve health equity through the diverse programs that are encompassed by the specialty of Preventive Medicine and Public Health. Sessions will highlight achievements, opportunities and gaps as well as provide opportunities to learn new skills and methods to bring to the task.
