CONFERENCE INFORMATION

Multidisciplinary Management of Cancers: A Case-based Approach

CONFERENCE DESCRIPTION

This conference will present the most current information on multidisciplinary approaches in clinical oncology and will consist of tumor board cases on breast, central nervous system, gastrointestinal, genitourinary, head and neck/thyroid, hematologic malignancies, lymphoma, melanoma, sarcoma, and thoracic cancers as well as developmental therapeutics and palliative care. The tumor board cases will be presented by faculty, with discussion by a panel of surgical, radiation, and medical oncologists from Stanford, UC Davis, UC San Francisco, and the practice community.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This course is designed for physicians specializing in medical, surgical, and radiation oncology as well as nurses, pharmacists, and other allied health professionals who work with cancer patients.

STATEMENT OF EDUCATIONAL NEED

Because the standard of care in oncology changes rapidly with new discoveries, there is a need for frequent updates of practical relevance for the practicing oncologist. This conference will emphasize standard of care issues for various cancers including diagnostic and therapeutic decision-making and optimal approaches to supportive and palliative care. The faculty at the Stanford Cancer Institute, UC Davis Comprehensive Cancer Center, and UCSF Helen Diller Family Comprehensive Cancer Center put a premium on optimal multidisciplinary modeling treatment and education of the practicing oncologist to ensure they are up to date. The American Society for Clinical Oncology recommends this multidisciplinary meeting format. This symposium and its faculty specifically address the clinical guidelines set forth by the National Comprehensive Cancer Network.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

1. Develop multidisciplinary treatment strategies based on national clinical practice guidelines in oncology in order to improve quality of care for cancer patients.
2. Discuss relevant clinical trials with cancer patients and refer appropriately.

CONFERENCE FORMAT

The format of the conference is oriented around tumor board cases. We will use an interactive group response system with an electronic keypad for each participant during the case discussions. We encourage you to submit cases for discussion.

CALL FOR CASE SUBMISSIONS

Registrants are encouraged to submit a case or cases for the panels to discuss. Deadline for case submissions is Friday, December 29, 2017. The organizing committee and panel chairs will select cases. Please visit the course website for the case submission form: www.multicancers.org.

MESSAGE

from the Co-Directors

Dear Colleagues,

It is a pleasure for us to invite you to the 18th Multidisciplinary Management of Cancers meeting to be held March 16-18, 2018. The 2018 program represents a collaborative effort of expert clinicians from the Stanford Cancer Institute, University of California, Davis, University of California, San Francisco, and the Association of Northern California Oncologists.

Based on the recurrent enthusiasm for a case oriented approach we once again will be tackling some of the toughest cases, heavily relying upon audience participation and feedback. Community oncologists will be represented on the panels as well. With that in mind, we remind you that we look forward to your submission of real cases to discuss. Using our online case submission form, please submit cases for us by the end of December 2017. We will select cases from among those submitted for presentation.

Our primary goal of this meeting, as always, is to provide learners with the latest developments in the multidisciplinary management of cancers.

Space is limited so register early. We look forward to your participation at this meeting.

Sincerely,

A. Dimitrios Colevas, MD
