CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

The Department of Otolaryngology – Head and Neck Surgery at MUSC is proud to present our 3rd Annual Literature Update Course at the Kiawah Island Golf Resort, SC, on July 26 - 28, 2013.

How does a busy clinician stay current in our rapidly expanding specialty? The literature is replete with new or refined diagnostic procedures, operative interventions and treatment algorithms. It is a difficult, if not at times bewildering, task to digest this information.

This course is designed to help. Each of our 15 faculty members is charged with reviewing last year's literature in their subspecialty, and then choosing the 6 to 8 best articles for critical review. To be considered best, we are especially looking for seminal works and those with a strong evidence base. Importantly, the manuscripts must have significant applicability to every day clinical practice.

The entire specialty – head and neck cancer, FPRS, otology-neurotology, endocrine disease, sleep disordered breathing, allergy, rhinology-sinus disease, voice and swallowing disorders, and pediatric ENT will be covered in 15 lectures. Each attendee will receive a binder of all articles selected for review and the presenters' presentations.

In 3 days, more than 100 manuscripts will be reviewed, and those "pearls" important to your practice will be emphasized. I believe that there may be no better way to stay current in our field than with this Literature Update Course. I hope you will join us in a beautiful location along the South Carolina coast this July.
