Target Audience

This activity is intended for clinicians who treat patients with neurological disorders. We especially want to encourage neurologists, psychiatrists, family practice and primary care physicians, geriatricians, physician assistants, nurse practitioners, physical therapists and other allied health care professionals to attend.

Program Description

The mission of Advances in Neurological Therapeutics 2013 is to update regional practitioners on the therapeutic effects of current and emerging therapies for Parkinson's disease (PD), multiple sclerosis (MS), Alzheimer's disease (AD) and other dementias. The importance of early diagnosis for these diseases will be stressed, and the risks and benefits of current and emerging therapies will be covered. We will also discuss the use of physical therapy and biomedical devices as a means to manage these diseases and improve patient function and quality of life. Finally we will explore the psychiatric issues faced by individuals with neurological disease, as well as discuss the bioethical implications of PET imaging of the brain. We intend to provide an engaging forum, which will motivate practitioners to think holistically when treating patients with PD, MS, and AD.

Goals and Objectives

Upon completion of this program, the participant will be able to:

1. Recognize current and emerging therapies of neurological diseases.
2. Recognize the behavioral implications of neurological disease.
3. Manage neurological diseases through the use of physical therapy.
4. Apply emerging non-pharmacological treatments to manage neurological diseases.
5. Appraise the bioethical implications of PET imaging.
