GENERAL INFORMATION

PURPOSE

This conference will address practical and clinically relevant information with an emphasis on new and continuing developments in geriatric medicine and related fields.

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of the course, the participant will be able to:

- Demonstrate that the treatment of stroke and neurological injury with cell therapy stimulates endogenous restorative mechanisms and significantly improves neurological outcome
- Review and discuss the evaluation and management of osteoporosis in older persons
- Understand kyphoplasty and vertebroplasty in older subjects with vertebral fractures
- Understand the device-based therapeutic approaches for interruption of sympathetic nervous system activity
- Understand the diagnostic criteria for resistant hypertension
- Understand the prognostic implications and therapeutic approaches to resistant hypertension
- Understand the importance of the sympathetic nervous system in uncontrolled resistant hypertension
- Understand the renal denervation procedure and the accumulated clinical trial efficacy and safety experience with this procedure
- Understand current standards of care for the diagnosis and treatment of diabetic retinopathy
- Learn how these standards apply, and may be modified, for diabetes in the senior age group
- Understand the relationship between systemic health and common oral health problems in geriatric care
- Learn assessment and management strategies for geriatric patients who present oral health concerns and systemic c-morbidities
- Learn to calculate the risk and benefit of anticoagulation for elderly patients with atrial fibrillation using validation risk stratification tools
- Learn to anticoagulate elderly patients with atrial fibrillation who are inappropriately taking aspirin or no therapy for stroke prevention.

TARGET AUDIENCE

General and family practitioners, gerontologists, internists, neurologists, physician assistants, nurse practitioners and other healthcare professionals.

LOCATION

The conference is being held at the Sheraton Detroit Novi (formerly the Novi Hilton), 21111 Haggerty Road, Novi, Michigan 48375. Phone 248/349-4000

14th Annual Norman N. Krieger, MD Lecture in Geriatric Medicine

Wednesday, November 6, 2013
Sheraton Detroit Novi, Novi, Michigan

Norman N. Krieger, MD

Norman N. Krieger received his MD degree from the University of Michigan in June 1956 and did his residency at Cook County Hospital, Chicago, IL. He has practiced medicine in Milford since December 1960 and been on staff at Huron Valley-Sinai Hospital since it opened. He was appointed Chief of Staff in June 1987 and was the Physician of the Year for 1988.

In the words of Norman Krieger, MD, "The growing geriatric population consists of individuals with unique medical needs. Only through continued research and discussions can we develop the specialized medical care required, and deserved, for these fine patients."

Annual Krieger Geriatric Lecture Mission Statement

- To enhance the knowledge of physicians in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of diseases of the geriatric population
- To expose physicians to cutting edge research related to the treatment and prevention of diseases of the elderly
- To provide an opportunity to enhance the knowledge of other health care providers to the prevention, diagnosis, and treatments affecting the geriatric population
