

Scripps Inaugural RESPECTing Pregnancy Conference:

Improving Outcomes in Perinatal and Neonatal Care

November 12, 2022 · San Diego Marriott · La Jolla, California

Visit www.scripps.org/pnatalcme for complete conference details and to register!

Course Overview

This one-day, multi-disciplinary educational conference presented by the Scripps Clinic Department of Maternal-Fetal Medicine, is structured as a practical, clinically oriented review of various maternal and fetal prenatal diagnoses, as well as ultrasound related high-yield topics. Our inaugural CME conference will discuss advances and updates in the clinical management of high-risk pregnancies using didactic lectures and interactive discussions led by highly qualified, experienced faculty certified by their respective specialties. The goal of this conference is to provide practical and evidence-based practice recommendations to improve the health of high-risk pregnant women and their babies.

Conference Topics

- Cardiac disease, diabetes, and critical care in pregnancy
- Maternal mental health
- Prenatal genetics
- Dedicated Q&A segments
