Course Outline

This course is designed for the clinical radiologist who specializes in breast imaging or who practices general diagnostic radiology including breast imaging. It is intended to provide an overview and update on clinically relevant topics in mammography, including recent developments in diagnostic imaging of the breast.

Speakers will discuss relevant changes in the new 5th edition of BI-RADS, and participants will have the opportunity to discuss their questions with the experts who developed the BI-RADS classifications. Course content will emphasize a practical approach, and will include didactic lectures and small group workshops covering digital mammography, breast tomosynthesis and breast MRI. Faculty panels will allow participants to pose individual questions to “the experts” for discussion of challenges and issues encountered in daily clinical practice.

This course satisfies the continuing medical education requirement for MQSA in breast imaging.

Self-Assessment

This course will offer 14.25 Self-Assessment credits in Breast Imaging.

As of January 1, 2013, updated MOC Part 2 requirements: 75 CME credits every three years, at least 25 of which must be self-assessment activities (SA-CME, which includes SAMs). For more information: www.theabr.org/moc-dr-comp2.

Course Objectives

At the completion of this course, the attendee should be able to:

1. Understand and utilize BI-RADS appropriately;
2. Follow a skillful and practical approach to performing and interpreting mammography, breast tomosynthesis and breast MRI;
3. Understand controversial mammographic screening guidelines and implications

Optional Mini-Course

An optional half-day mini-course will be offered, which will further explore challenges faced by imagers in the current era of breast cancer treatment.

This mini-course offers 4.0 CME credits and 3.5 SA-CME credits in Breast Imaging.

The Big Island of Hawaii

The Big Island is the birthplace of King Kamehameha 1, the leader who united all of the Hawaiian islands by 1810. The Big Island is the anchor of the island chain and home of Madame Pele, the fire goddess of volcanoes; therefore the color ascribed to the Big Island is red. The Island of Hawaii is the largest and youngest island in the Hawaiian chain, and with the current volcanic activity, the Big Island is still growing.

The sunny and dry west side of the island is referred to as Kona, and the transformation of its shoreline by volcanic eruptions just two-hundred years ago is still evident. The misty east side of the island is referred to as Hilo -- which is a prime growing area for flowers, plants and vegetation, includes many waterfalls, and is home to Hawaii Volcanoes National Park.

The Big Island has one of the world's most active volcanoes (Kilauea), the tallest sea mountain in the world at more than 33,000 feet (Mauna Kea), and the most massive mountain in the world (Mauna Loa). Hawaii's varying and dramatic climate zones generate a world of environments on one island, including lush rain forests, volcanic deserts, snow-capped mountaintops and beautiful black sand beaches.
