Program Overview

The 2016 AACD Perioperative Leadership Summit is designed for participants to gain a greater understanding of the future direction of perioperative management. This year the summit will focus on the implications of the perioperative surgical home, out-of-OR anesthesiology and other current topics and issues in perioperative management. There will be significant discussion of the needs and challenges faced by Perioperative leaders related to resources, finances and care providers. As in all past summits, there will be multiple forums and opportunities for participants to exchange ideas and network with thought leaders in perioperative management.

Program Goal

The goal of this program is to enable participants to provide a network for Perioperative administration colleagues to explore the roles and challenges of the operating room (OR) in a non-academic or director role, and to develop practical strategies and skills for effectively managing the challenges encountered in the work environment.

Program Objectives

At the end of the Summit, participants will be able to:

- Analyze benefits and challenges of the perioperative surgical home
- Describe the many different regulatory requirements for billing service
- Identify the new payment models that are emerging in healthcare
- Discuss the needs required by the special environment of non-OR anesthesiology services
- Describe the behaviors of disruptive physicians and impact on patient safety along with tools for remediation
- Discuss change management and conflict management in healthcare
- Improve the customer service level for all patients
- Improve information gathering in preparation for an Event Analysis
- Discuss the implications of data driven OR scheduling and OR metrics

Accreditation

In order to receive CME credit, participants must sign-in to the ASA Education Center, review the CME information and complete the evaluation. Further instructions will be emailed to each participant immediately prior to and after the activity.
