COURSE DESCRIPTION

These two distinct CME programs are open to orthopaedic surgeons, residents, nurses and members of the orthopaedic and allied health industries.

- Each meeting will present current topics on both primary and revision joint arthroplasty outcomes, surgical approaches, new materials and design as well as address problems of articulation choice, fixation, bone deficiency, instability, trauma, pain management and infection.
- Topics delve into a triad of design, patient factors and technical proficiency responsible for achieving clinical longevity in joint reconstruction.
- For both programs, an assemblage of contemporary thought leaders will probe the boundaries of these problems and offer solutions for joint pathologies where arthroplasty is indicated.
- Each meeting hosts plenary commentary, didactic clinical reports, technique videos, debate and case challenges as the formats of presentation, which provide an optimal learning opportunity.
