#7318 Types of Play that Build Learning Connections

Instructor
Pamela Orf ITFS, PLAY home consultant

Audience: Physical Therapists, Occupational Therapists, Speech Therapists, and Assistants

Delivery Options:
Live Webinar or Self-Study Options

SUMMARY: For children, play is learning, especially when the play is structured to engage and connect them to meaningful thought. This course will explore various types of play and activities to elicit learning. No toy bag.... no problem. The instructor, an experienced play therapist, will share ideas for finding the best toy for the child you're working with. Learn evidence-based strategies to engage in different types of play, including food play for picky eaters. Topics will also include outdoor play, sensory play, and music play. Learn some new ways to make toys from household items. You will also learn strategies for transitions in-between activities to keep children engaged. Course instruction methods include lecture, demonstration, videos, case studies and question/answers.

PRESENTER: Pam Orf, is the owner and provider for Learning Connections Unlimited. They provide special instruction through the Infant and Toddler program and PLAY home consultant program. She mentors and supervises the other special instruction providers in the agency. Her work has focused on children up to age 6 with special needs. She coaches families to support their children in reaching their highest developmental level. As a developmental specialist, she is able to know where a child is and where they need to be. Her passion for child development has led her to the experts in the field with Dr.Solomon, founder of PLAY project, and Dr.Greenspan, creator of DIR/Floortime. These relationship-based interventions match with her love of people.

She has almost 20 years' experience working in early intervention. She graduated from University of Florida with a degree in regular and special education. Then received a master's certification as an Infant and Toddler Developmental Specialist from the University of Central Florida. After certification as an Infant, Toddler and Family Specialist with the NC Infant and Toddler program, she became certified as a home consultant through the PLAY project. The instructor(s) received an honorarium for teaching and does not have any financial and non-financial relationships to disclose.

OBJECTIVES: Upon completion of this course, the participant will be able to:

1. Name 3 activities to engage children using different types of play.
2. Identify different types of play that help build learning for outdoor play, music and social skills.
3. List several strategies to use during transitions to keep the child engaged.

FORMAT: This is a 3-hour course equivalent to 3 CEU's or 0.3 CEUs offered as a live webinar or self-study.

For Live courses, the content is presented via an internet website displaying real time power points. Learners will receive a course instruction link. Instructors lecture through livestreaming internet on your computer. Questions may be asked during the webinar using the chat feature or the "raise hand" feature for live discussion.

For Recorded courses, learners will not be able to participate in real time with questions.
