2017 ACG/LGS REGIONAL POSTGRADUATE COURSE

JOIN COLLEAGUES IN THE “BIG EASY.”

The American College of Gastroenterology and the Louisiana Gastroenterology Society invite colleagues from across the U.S. to join us at the ACG/LGS Regional Postgraduate Course, March 3 and 4, at the Hyatt French Quarter in New Orleans, Louisiana. Led by Course Director Daniel L. Raines, MD, FACG, leading experts will discuss idiopathic pancreatitis, changes in ROME IV criteria, biologic therapy in IBD, complex polypectomy, guidelines and management strategies in surveillance and treatment of Barrett’s esophagus, protocols and pitfalls in FMT, expert recommendations in EoE management, and non-cardiac chest pain. Friday evening’s keynote presentation is, “Ancillary Revenue Sources for Clinical Practice,” and Saturday’s luncheon talk will be, “Medicare Reporting Requirements and Payments Updates.”

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION / ACCOMMODATIONS

ACCREDITATION / CME / MOC

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of the American College of Gastroenterology and the Louisiana Gastroenterology Society. The American College of Gastroenterology is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The American College of Gastroenterology designates this live activity for a maximum of 8.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn up to 8.25 MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine's (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program. Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider's responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC credit.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The current pace of scientific discovery makes mastery of advancing knowledge, new diagnostic techniques, and progress in therapeutics a challenge for the gastroenterologist or generalist. At the same time, the rigors of the profession demand a deeper understanding of changes occurring within the healthcare system. This program will offer attendees experiences in both areas. During this program, breakthroughs in scientific fields such as fecal microbiota transplantation, inflammatory bowel disease, eosinophilic esophagitis and idiopathic pancreatitis will be presented by nationally recognized experts. The structure of the program includes a mix of didactic presentations delivered by expert faculty combined with interactive discussions. Attendees will leave the program ready to immediately implement the knowledge gained to improve their clinical practice.

This program is designed for gastroenterologists, primary care physicians, nurses, physician assistants, and nurse practitioners interested in the latest developments in the science of gastroenterology and the art of health care.

REGISTRATION & MOBILE APP

The registration fee includes admission to all sessions, continental breakfast, a mid-morning coffee break, and lunch on Saturday. All registrants must pay the full registration fee; one-day registration is not available.
