INTERIM
SKULL
BASE
MEETING
2025

Friday – 13th June 2025 Hands-on workshops

- I – ENDOSKULLBASE – Trans-sphenoidal, transpterygoid, Transclival, TONES & SOKHA
- II – MICROVASCULAR – Microvascular Anastomosis, EC-IC bypass, Sylvian Dissection,

Saturday – 14th June 2025 – Pre-lunch session – ANTERIOR SKULL BASE

1. Anatomy 360 degrees
Microscopic and endoscopic anatomy of anterior skull base
2. Pathologies and approaches
 - CSF leak – Endoscopic Vs Microscopic repairs – Indications and techniques
 - Sellar/Suprasellar lesions –
 - Ø Pituitary adenomas – giant adenomas and cavernous sinus invasion
 - Ø Craniopharyngiomas – Endoscopic Vs Microscopic – Indications and techniques
 - ACF base meningiomas – Trans cranial Vs Trans sphenoidal excision – Indications and techniques
 - SOKHA approaches – technical nuances of microscopic and endoscopic surgery
 - Trans-nasal surgery in paediatric patients – When and how

Saturday – 14th June 2025 – Post-lunch session – LATERAL SKULL BASE

1. Anatomy 360 degrees
 - Microscopic (cavernous sinus) and endoscopic (trans-orbital and trans-pterygoid) anatomy of middle skull base
2. Pathologies and approaches
 - Lesions of the cavernous sinus and approaches
 - Medial Sphenoid wing Meningiomas with ICA encasement
 - GSPN and trigeminal Schwannomas – microsurgical techniques
 - Modified Kawase approach to Petrous apex pathologies
 - Combined trans cavernous and trans petrous approaches for Petro clival Meningiomas
 - Surgical approaches for para clival aneurysms (Carotico-ophthalmic)
 - Role of bypasses in Skull base surgeries
 - Managing vascular injuries during skull base surgeries

Sunday – 15th June 2025 – Pre-lunch session – POSTERIOR SKULL BASE

1. Anatomy 360 degrees
 - Microscopic anatomy of the CP angle and foramen magnum
 - Endoscopic trans-clival anatomy
2. Pathologies and approaches
 - Understanding the microsurgical patho-anatomy of vestibular schwannomas
 - Combined supra and infra tentorial approaches to Trigeminal Schwannomas
 - Mastering the art of microsurgery on Petroclival Meningiomas
 - Chordomas – choosing the right approach – Endoscopic Vs Microscopic
 - Foramen Magnum meningiomas – Understanding the far-lateral and extreme-lateral transcondylar approaches
 - When PICA and Basilar top aneurysm require microsurgical clipping
 - Facial nerve preservation – the arduous skill in Vestibular Schwannoma surgery
 - EAM keyhole surgery for posterior fossa tumors

SCIENTIFIC PROGRAM OUTLINE

PRE CONFERENCE HANDS ON WORKSHOPS

Venue: Anatomy Dissection Hall, Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel Bhawan, AIIMS Bhopal

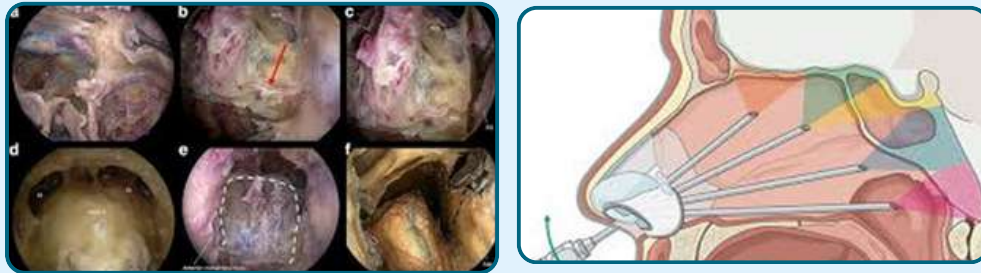

Two High Impact Workshops: 13th June 2025 (Friday)

LIMITED SLOTS

LEARN FROM THE MASTERS
EXPERIENCE IT HANDS-ON

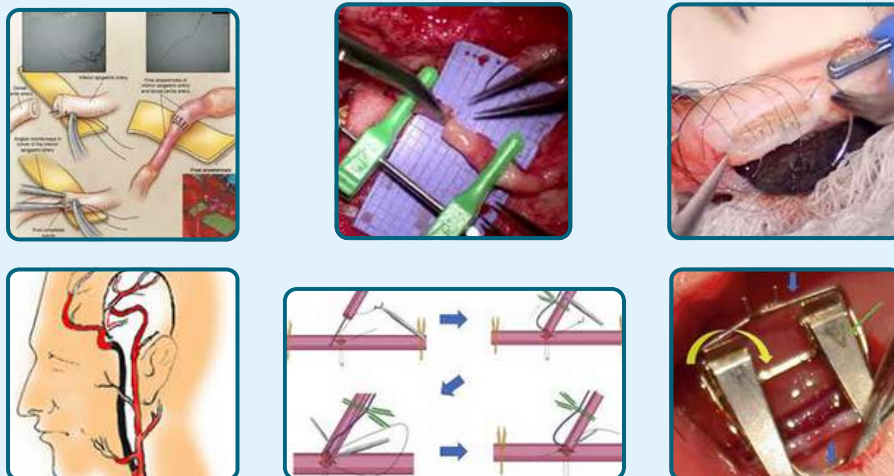

ENDOSKULLBASE: • Trans-sphenoidal, transpterygoid, Transclival, TONES & SOKHA

The aim of this workshop is to teach the delegates not just about the basic anatomy of the transnasal approach, but also to make them understand and learn the various surgical steps that are required to approach the sellar suprasellar area via this approach. It is also important to learn the various corridors that are available, which may be uninostrial or binostril.

MICROVASCULAR: • Microvascular Anastomosis, EC-IC bypass, Sylvian Dissection

A workshop on microvascular anastomosis skills and EC-IC bypass is an indispensable component of neurosurgical training. It not only enhances technical proficiency but also improves decision-making, patient selection, and surgical confidence. Neurosurgeons trained in these advanced techniques are better equipped to manage challenging vascular cases, ultimately leading to improved patient outcomes.

THE SKULL BASE COURSE

2025

Join us for this unmissable skill enhancing opportunity

A Focused Learning Experience in Skull Base for Neurosurgeons

This year's CME of the interim skull base meeting is not just like any other CME. It's a curated program aimed at neurosurgeons who wish to excel and master the skull base surgery.

AIIMS Bhopal invites you to #The Skull Base Course, a meticulously designed one-and-a-half-day CME (14th–15th June 2025), offering an immersive deep dive into anterior, middle, and posterior skull base surgery.

What to Expect?

- ✓ Comprehensive Surgical Anatomy: Microscopic & endoscopic demonstrations.
- ✓ Expert-Led "How I Do It" Sessions: Surgical videos with practical insights on case selection, approach, positioning, and intraoperative nuances.
- ✓ Debate & Discussion Panels: Engage with leading experts in analyzing complex cases and refining decision-making strategies.

This focused debate-driven and technique-oriented course is an unmissable opportunity for neurosurgeons to sharpen their skills, expand their knowledge, and interact with national & international faculty.

SCHOLARSHIPS

- Presenters of top 10 papers will have their registration fees reimbursed at the end of event. If they attend all registered sessions, cheques would be handed over only in person during the valedictory function.
- First 50 resident/fellow/Young Neurosurgeon registrations also get a complimentary stay on twin sharing basis.
