From the President

Rotorua becomes a reality!

Dear Colleagues

It is with much pleasure that I invite you to come to Rotorua for the 2021 NZDA conference.

An outstanding programme has been developed, with a combination of international speakers 'beaming in', plus a number of fantastic Australians and New Zealanders who are experts in their field. We are so fortunate to be in a position to be able to reconnect with our colleagues, be inspired by the carefully selected presenters, and have some time out of practice.

Rotorua is a fantastic destination. There is something for everyone in Rotorua, from zip-lining to trout fishing, Zorbing to mountain biking. You could sneak into the Polynesian spa for a soak and a massage, or go over to Hobbiton if you are a Lord of the Rings fan. September is a great time to have a mini-break prior to the Christmas rush.

You won't regret it!

The Awards Dinner is going to be a fantastic night. I am hoping that every NZDA branch will have at least one nomination for the awards (put your thinking caps on now – nominations close on 13 July). This makes for an exciting evening celebrating colleagues and branches who are helping out their communities. After the awards there will be plenty of time for further catch-ups and dancing!

I really hope that as many members as possible are able to attend the conference and awards dinner this year. Come and meet up with classmates, other dentists from your Dental Council bridging course, or colleagues that you used to work with.

Further information about the conference can be found in this brochure or on the NZDA website. Please come and join us!!

About the course

Calling all infection prevention coordinators, dental assistants, OHTs, and dentists! The knowing and the doing can be challenging to align!

Register for this full day workshop and update your Infection Prevention and Control knowledge with a focus on the 'what' to do, the 'why' it should be done, and the 'how' to do it!

A great opportunity to align the theory of best practice with clinical application, and how to effectively and efficiently ensure all this is happening in your practice.

Practical implementation is included in this workshop with work stations set up for several of the topics, including;

- Management and Performance testing for the ultrasonic units
- Impression management
- PPE – appropriate choice of products, correct wearing, mask permeability testing, glove porosity
- Hand Hygiene – light box with fluorescent hand sanitiser
- Surface management
- Methods of transmission activity
- Instrument reprocessing and management – packaging, instrument audit
- Aerosol management
- Performance Requalification – annual in practice process and documentation
- There will also be a review of documents required, including;
- Policy & Procedures Manual
- MSDS review
- Validation paperwork review: Performance Qualification and Performance Requalification process

About the course

A formal education and training course that fulfils the mandatory DCNZ requirements for education and training in the Sedation Practice Standard from 1st October 2019.

This will enable you to gain certified competency to monitor sedated patients. It is designed for the whole dental team who monitor sedated patients, either with minimal experience or needing an introduction to capnography. It does not teach you how to sedate patients.

The course will involve a full day of lectures, demonstrations and hands-on training leading to certification.

Participants will gain an understanding of:

- The definitions of minimal, moderate, and deep sedation; and general anaesthesia.
- That the transition from complete consciousness through the various stages of sedation to general anaesthesia is a continuum and not a set of discrete well-defined stages.
- The risks associated with sedation.

And deeper knowledge in:

- Anatomy and physiology of the respiratory, cardiovascular and central nervous systems in relation to sedation.
- How to monitor the sedated patient – physical and physiological monitoring including the central nervous system, respiratory and cardiovascular systems, and necessary equipment – appropriate for the technique(s) and drugs being used, and the intended level of sedation.
- How to identify sedation-related complications; and when to advise the 'sedationist' or 'operator-sedationist' of any abnormalities or concerns and initiate or assist in the management of a medical emergency.

About the course

It wasn't so long ago that to aesthetically enhance a smile one would turn to say a porcelain crown or porcelain veneer. This was costly—financially and more importantly biologically. It's amazing how times have changed with the versatility of composite.

Through creative techniques we are now able to provide conservative and durable aesthetic solutions to a greater number of patients (even for the most aesthetically demanding).

This lecture and hands-on workshop will focus on the creative use of composite to close diastema's/dark triangles, and aesthetic enhancement of dark teeth using veneering techniques.

Lecture:

- Review of treatment planning (including smile design concepts)
- Material selection
- Layering techniques
- Tooth isolation/gingival management
- Contouring & finishing techniques in the use of composite for;

1. Veneers
2. Dark tooth block-out,
3. Diastema/dark 'triangle' closures

Hands-on workshop: [LIMITED SPACE]

Enhance your learning experience by participating in an afternoon hands-on session on typodonts. Practical exercises include constructing a composite veneer, dark tooth block-out, and diastema closure. These exercises are designed to systematically enhance your skill set necessary to master more challenging scenarios.

Note: Participants must attend the morning lecture in order to register for the afternoon hands-on workshop.

Presenters

Dr Peter Cathro

Time

8:30am - 5:00pm

Course fee

$995

Maximum 20 participants

About the course

Endodontics can be a technically demanding aspect of dentistry. However, with the continued advancement of technology, the predictability of treatment can be enhanced, along with your enjoyment in providing it.

The aim of this course will be to update participants with some of these advancements and provide useful and practical tips to enhance practitioners confidence when undertaking root canal treatment.

Course objectives

- Endodontic access and length determination
- Access (includes anatomy) and negotiation
- Rubber dam isolation technique
- Root length determination and how to optimise the accuracy of the electronic apex locator
- Microbial control techniques: Chemo-mechanical preparation of the root canal system
- Root canal preparation with biologically based nickel-titanium techniques with the focus on reciprocation motion
- Irrigation and Medication: Traditional vs. Contemporary concepts
- Current Obturation concepts and trends
- There will be a particular focus on the warm vertical condensation
- Management of difficult cases
