The 5th Epigenomics of Common Diseases conference will bring together leading scientists from the fields of epigenomics, genetics and bioinformatics to discuss the latest developments in this fast-moving area.

The 2015 meeting will focus on epigenomic studies across of a wide range of common and other diseases, including approaches from a variety of different disciplines.

Topics covered will include:

- Epigenomics of disease
- Chromatin organisation
- Model systems: animal and cellular models
- Population epigenetics
- Clinical epigenetics
- Single cell epigenetics
- Epigenetic engineering
- Informatics and technology

Limited bursaries are available for PhD students. Please see our website for full details.
