Education – Interaction – Relaxation! We invite you to join us at the 2017 Advanced Critical Care & Emergency Nursing Conference in Las Vegas to experience all three. ICU and ED nurses are a unique group of high energy, confident, quick-thinking individuals with an ever-present need for more knowledge in order to provide the best possible care and outcomes for their patients. We look forward to helping you achieve this goal through presentations provided by nationally-known experts, interaction with your colleagues and the faculty, shared problem-solving and in-depth case study discussions.

HIGHLIGHTS AND BENEFITS

- ▶ A full-day Preconference dedicated to 12 Lead ECG Interpretation: Journey from Basic to Complex, where your understanding and interpretation of 12 Lead ECGs will improve through tips, tools and case studies provided by the faculty.
- ▶ Main Conference General Sessions, in which speakers will address issues and challenges relevant to both ICU and ED staff.
- ▶ Concurrent Sessions allowing attendees to participate in 5 classes from a choice of 20, offering specialty-specific options as well as broad-based sessions that apply to caring for all critically ill patients.
- ▶ Conference speakers who will empower you to think critically and act appropriately and safely when confronted with urgent and emergent clinical situations.
- ▶ Opportunities for networking and lively conversations with friends and colleagues.

CONFERENCE OBJECTIVES

THIS PROGRAM WILL ENABLE EXPERIENCED ICU AND ED CLINICIANS TO:

- ▶ Better assess critically ill and injured patients, provide timely, appropriate evidence-based care, and evaluate patient response through collaboration with the ICU and/or ED team.
- ▶ Explore pharmacologic challenges surrounding anesthesia, Cytochrome P450, antimicrobial use and abuse, street drugs, overdoses, anticoagulation and ED medications.
- ▶ Utilize information from new STEMI and Sepsis Guidelines when assessing ICU and ED patients.
- ▶ Describe the utilization of diagnostic and monitoring tools including 12-lead ECG, PA catheters and imaging.
- ▶ Examine the pathophysiology associated with toxidromes, acute CHF, cardiomyopathy, pulmonary arterial hypertension, AKI, brain death and endocrine emergencies.

PRECONFERENCE SCHEDULE

PRECONFERENCE

The 12 Lead ECG Interpretation: Journey from Basic to Complex

Karen Marzlin, DNP, CCNS, ACNP-AG, CCRN-CMC, CHFNP

Cynthia L. Webner, DNP, ACNPC-AG, CCNS, CCRN-CMC, CHFNP

The 12 lead ECG is a commonly-used procedure for diagnosing a wide variety of cardiac conditions including acute coronary syndrome (ACS), wide complex tachycardia, conduction disturbances, hypertrophy, and high risk features for sudden cardiac death. Timely and accurate ECG interpretation can lead to rapid intervention and improved patient outcomes. Although the ECG is a commonly performed diagnostic test, many clinicians lack confidence in their interpretation skills. In this rapidly changing, complex healthcare system, more and more non-physicians are finding themselves in a situation with a fresh ECG in hand and a decision to be made. Be it the nurse at the point of care, a member of a Rapid Response Team, or a non-physician provider, accurate ECG interpretation requires a skilled eye to look beyond the computer-generated interpretation, recognizing important findings that will lead to appropriate action benefiting the patient. Join us as we take you on a journey from the basic to the complex in 12 lead ECG interpretation. The day will nurture the novice and challenge the experienced ECG readers. Your confidence will grow throughout the day as we provide many tips, tools and case studies to help you improve your understanding and skill in 12 lead ECG interpretation.

THIS PRECONFERENCE WILL ENABLE YOU TO:

- ▶ Accurately identify criteria for normal and abnormal patterns on the ECG.
- ▶ Identify subtle and early signs of injury and ischemia.
- ▶ Investigate ECG changes associated with myocardial mimics including normal variants, chamber enlargement, electrolytes, and other disease entities.
- ▶ Examine ECG signs and QRS morphology that allow for the accurate interpretation of wide complex tachyarrhythmias.
