OBJECTIVES

- Identify the common categories of headache.
- Distinguish between chronic migraine and medication-overuse headache in order to choose the best preventive strategies.
- Recognize the characteristic clinical presentations of headache in children and identify the challenges of treating the pediatric patient with chronic migraine.

INTENDED AUDIENCE

This course is intended for all primary care providers and those specialists who have an interest in migraine and other headache disorders including but not limited to anesthesia, pain and addiction, internal medicine, family medicine, obstetrics and gynecology, pediatrics, emergency medicine, ear, nose and throat, neurology, psychiatry, hospitalists, and pharmacists as well as other health care professionals (physician assistants, nurse practitioners, and nurses) who are involved in the diagnosis and management of headache patients.

CONTINUING MEDICAL EDUCATION

This activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the accreditation requirements and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) through the joint providership of Primary Care Network (PCN) and the Diamond Headache Clinic Research & Educational Foundation. Primary Care Network is accredited by the ACCME to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Primary Care Network designates this live activity for a maximum of 8.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Primary Care Network has been awarded Accreditation with Commendation (2013-2019) by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME).

This continuing medical education activity has been reviewed by the American Academy of Pediatrics and is acceptable for a maximum of 8.0 AAP credits. These credits can be applied toward the AAP CME/CPD Award available to Fellows and Candidate Members of the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Application for CME credit has been filed with the American Academy of Family Physicians. Determination of credit is pending.
