Medical Oncology and Hematology 2016:

Multidisciplinary Approaches that Improve Coordination of Care

Program Goals

Address the ongoing need for educating practicing physicians about new cancer therapies, current treatment guidelines, and resources available to assist them in their cancer screening practices.

Enhance understanding about the unique medical and psychosocial needs of cancer survivors and provide awareness for resources that can assist in navigating the various phases of cancer survivorship.

Focus on new advances within the last year along other groundbreaking scientific discoveries.

Raise awareness and knowledge in optimal use of new therapies for cancer, screening practices and the transition to survivorship care.

Educational Objectives

- Apply current screening guidelines and recommendations to detect cancer in primary care settings early enough for optimal referral to specialists who provide up-to-date optimal treatment plans (knowledge, competence, performance, patient outcomes);
- Incorporate prognostic factors and guidelines by tumor site into clinical practice, providing more accurate, personalized diagnoses and optimal treatment options for improved patient care in hematology and solid tumor oncology (knowledge, competence, performance, patient outcomes);
- Provide patients with prevention guidance through early detection and clinical interventions (knowledge, competence, performance, patient outcomes);
- Be equipped with an awareness of the cancer care continuum and the place of primary care, as well as the resources available for assisting patients through phases of cancer survivorship (knowledge, competence, performance, patient outcomes).

Target Audience

This conference will be beneficial to medical oncologists, hematologists, primary care physicians, trainees, fellows, and healthcare professionals.

Evaluation

A course evaluation form will provide participants with the opportunity to comment on the value of the program content to their practice decisions, performance improvement activities, or possible impact on patient health status. Participants will also have the opportunity to comment on any perceived commercial bias in the presentations as well as to identify future educational topics.

Accreditation/Credit Designation

The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center designates this live activity for a maximum of 16.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Ethics

The lecture, Medical Ethics (*) has been designated by the University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center for 1.00 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™ in medical ethics and/or professional responsibility.

CME Certificates and Attendance Verification Certificates

Certificates awarding AMA PRA Category 1 Credit™ or certificates documenting attendance will be distributed to participants when an individual departs the conference. To obtain a CME certificate, physicians must submit a completed evaluation questionnaire and a CME Verification Form.

Upon request, a record of attendance (certificate) will be provided on-site to other health care professionals for requesting credits in accordance with state nursing boards, specialty societies, or other professional associations.

The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center has implemented a process whereby everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity must disclose all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest that could potentially affect the information presented. MD Anderson also requires that all faculty disclose any unlabeled use or investigational use (not yet approved for any purpose) of pharmaceutical and medical device products. Specific disclosure will be made to the participants prior to the educational activity.

Agendas are subject to change because we are always striving to improve the quality of your educational experience. MD Anderson may substitute faculty with comparable expertise on rare occasions necessitated by illness, schedule conflicts, and so forth.

Photographing, audio taping and videotaping are prohibited.
