President's Message

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the 77th Annual Meeting of the California Society of Pathologists, taking place from December 4-7 at the Hyatt Regency San Francisco. As we gather in this vibrant city and my hometown, we look forward to an engaging and enlightening event that promises to enhance our knowledge and strengthen our professional community.

This year's meeting brings together leading experts and innovative thinkers in the field of pathology. Our educational program is packed with a wide spectrum of topics which have been structured to appeal to learners across different practice environments. We are back with our popular traditional activities including short courses, video microscopy tutorials and case presentations by world-renowned experts. These include timely topics in pathology of the gastrointestinal tract, gynecologic tract, urologic pathology and much more! In addition, we have added a plenary session which I am sure will generate a lot of interest amongst the participants. I am also excited to announce that this year's meeting will debut a poster session for the trainees. This will be a wonderful opportunity for trainees and their mentors to showcase their research.

Beyond the educational sessions, this meeting offers a unique opportunity to reconnect with colleagues, share experiences, and foster collaborations. The exchange of ideas and networking during our time together is invaluable and enhances the collective expertise of our society.

I encourage you to take full advantage of the resources and opportunities available throughout the meeting. Whether it's through attending sessions, participating in discussions, or exploring the latest research and innovations in our exhibit hall, your active involvement will enrich your experience and contribute to the success of our event.

Thank you for your dedication to pathology and for joining us in San Francisco. Together, let's make this 77th Annual Education Meeting a memorable and impactful event.

Warm regards,

Emily A. Green, M.D.

President, California Society of Pathologists

Learning Objectives

- Accurately classify and stage tumors in several organs based on current and updated classification and staging systems
- Apply histopathologic and cytopathologic diagnostic criteria to distinguish the discussed tumors from their mimics
- Discuss the role of ancillary tools and predictive biomarkers in the diagnosis and prognosis of tumors involving several organs
- Discuss the critical role of the application of gender inclusive clinical and anatomical pathology criteria in clinical practice

Target Audience

The content of the annual meeting has been developed to cater to the educational need of a heterogeneous group of learners comprising both trainees and practicing pathologists from different practice settings ranging from community to academic practice.

Commercial Support: Thank you to Evident Scientific for their in-kind donation of microscope equipment.

Poster Abstracts Displays

The CSP invites all trainees (medical students, residents, and fellows) to submit original research for poster presentation at the 2024 annual meeting in San Francisco. Poster presentations can include original research, case series, or case reports provided they include at least some original data or findings not previously presented at a national or international meeting.

Abstracts will be selected for poster presentation on the basis of scientific merit and clinical relevance. The presenting author of an abstract must be a trainee. There is no fee for submitting an abstract; however, if accepted, the presenting author must register for the conference.

The three best poster presentations will be selected by a review committee and recognized at the awards dinner. Presenters are responsible for all expenses related to participating in the conference, including transportation, registration fee, lodging, and meals.

Click Here for additional information, guidelines and instructions for submitting an abstract.

Poster presentations will take place on Friday, December 6, 2024.

Attendees will have the opportunity to engage with researchers, discuss methodologies, and gain insights into emerging trends and developments.

CSP INAUGURAL AWARDS & RECOGNITION DINNER

Join us for an unforgettable evening as we celebrate excellence in pathology at our inaugural Awards and Recognition Dinner, taking place during this year's annual meeting. This special event will honor the outstanding achievements and contributions of pathologists and other influencers who have made a significant impact in our field.

Guests will enjoy a gourmet dinner and have the opportunity to network with colleagues and leaders in pathology from around the country. The evening will feature presentations of prestigious awards, acknowledgement of our esteemed faculty and recognition of the remarkable work being done by pathologists across various specialties.

Don't miss this chance to be a part of history as we come together to celebrate our shared passion for pathology and recognize those who have built and continue to shape our profession.

Join us for an evening of celebration, camaraderie, and inspiration at the Awards and Recognition Dinner.

Please Note: The CSP Awards and Recognition Dinner is not included with your registration. Separate tickets can be purchased for $150 at the time of registration.

Advocacy

As critical threats facing our specialty grow and evolve both nationally and in California, the California Society of Pathologists remains the primary champion for you, your practice, and your patients. Here is a look back on CSP's more recent achievements in state level public policy and practice affairs:

- Helped defeat AB 533, which would have limited balance billing by out of network hospital-based physicians for insured patients.
- Sponsored and passed AB 599, which expands the scope of practice for cytotechnologists to include administering other types of tests beyond pap smears, including HPV, FISH, and others in a lab directory and under the supervision of a board-certified pathologist.
- Obtained emergency changes to state law to allow lab use of EQC and IQCP quality control procedures.
- Fought and succeeded in maintaining Medi-Cal payment for PC for clinical pathology.

Education and Information

Providing education, advocacy, government relations, and practice management geared towards the needs of practicing pathologists, CSP is available to our members as a resource for information and direction on legal and practice management issues. Information is provided through the following mechanisms:

- Regular webinars on important practice issues.
- The CSP website at www.calpath.org, which contains a range of information and allows membership communication of issues.
- Annual Meeting and other in person Meetings.

Member Benefits

Other benefits of CSP membership include:

- Discounted registration for CSP's Annual Meeting, The California Seminars in Pathology. Our meeting has been recognized as one of the highest quality CME programs in the US for pathologists.
- Information and direction on legal and practical issues, with provided references to outside attorneys and consultants for specific member assistance.
- Access to the CSP E-Newsletter, a periodic distribution of timely information sent via e-mail.

Meet fellow pathologists and make lifetime friends. Please join the CSP and together let us shape the future of California Pathology for our patients, the wider world, our families, and for future generations. Visit the CSP Website!
