The Changing Prospects for Cancer - 'A Good Survival'

Introduction

Since the publication of the National Cancer Survivorship Initiative "Visioning" paper in 2010, the momentum behind improving services for patients living with and beyond cancer has increased exponentially. The challenge for the next few years is to facilitate implementation of these innovations into mainstream cancer services.

In April 2014, The Christie, Macmillan Cancer Support and University of Salford joined forces to hold a conference discussing and debating the challenges, issues and controversies related to an increasing population of cancer survivors. Join us on 11th March 2016 where we will pick up the discussions

Topics to be discussed

- Living with and beyond cancer in the 21st century
- Use of technology to encourage self-managed care
- Translating projects into mainstream practice
- Primary care perspectives – innovation in the community
- Cancer survivorship in the regions
- Emerging issues and developments

Suitable For

The attendees will consist of a diverse mix of clinicians, nurses, allied health professionals, service managers, GPs, commissioners and patient representatives.

Fees

£150 Full fee

£130 Early bird (before 30th Nov 2015)

Abstract Submissions

We are inviting abstracts from delegates looking to present a poster at the conference.

Testimonials from 2014

"Enjoyable day. Plenty of thought provoking discussion that can be utilised to change practice or at least help it on its way!"

"I particularly liked the discussion and debate approach to the topic - you didn't shy away from the difficult and challenging aspects of living with & beyond cancer!"

"This was the first Changing Prospects conference - and hopefully will be followed by others. This was a packed conference bringing together those who have, work with or commission services for those affected by cancer: essentially the right people in the room able to debate and discuss how best to support cancer care needs in the future"

94% of delegates said that they would recommend attending!
