PROGRAM DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

The course is designed to assist nephrologists and renal pathologists (including nephrology and renal pathology trainees) in diagnosing and managing the most common forms of medical renal disease, including diseases that target the glomerulus, tubules, interstitium, and blood vessels.

The activity will span three days and include lectures covering the following content areas: Nephrotic syndrome, Nephritic syndrome, Genetics, Tubulointerstitial, Vascular Disease, Transplant & Dysproteinemia. These lectures will be delivered live in front of an audience but also streamed simultaneously for virtual participants; all participants will have access to these lectures for 3 months after the conference.

Upon completion of this activity, participants will be better able to

- Identify the role of complement in the pathophysiology of glomerular diseases and how novel complement-targeting therapies can fit into treatment patterns.
 - Enhance diagnostic suspicion for a genetically mediated form of glomerular disease and facilitate rapid referral for genetic testing.
 - Assess which patients would benefit from repeat biopsies in the management of their glomerular diseases.

MEETING LOCATION

Columbia University Irving Medical Center, Faculty Club
630 West 168th Street, 4th Floor
New York, NY 10032

Parking is available at the Columbia University Irving Medical Center parking lot, located on the southwest corner of Fort Washington Avenue and West 165th Street.

Directions to the Columbia University Irving Medical Center:

By Public Transportation

Subway:

Take the 1, A, or C trains to the 168th Street station. From midtown Manhattan, the A train provides express service. NOTE: The 1 train is not stopping at 168th Street throughout 2019.

Bus:

Many city buses serve the medical center, including the M-2, 3, 4, 5, and 100. For additional bus and subway information, call the Transit Authority at 718-330-1234.

By Car

The fastest and most convenient way to reach the medical center by car is to follow directions to the George Washington Bridge and then exit onto Riverside Drive. From there, proceed south and turn left onto West 165th Street (the first left) and then right onto Fort Washington Avenue to the medical center parking facility.

From upstate New York and New Jersey:

After crossing the George Washington Bridge, follow signs to the Henry Hudson Parkway (also called the West Side Highway), and then to Riverside Drive.

From Riverdale and Westchester via the Saw Mill River Parkway:

Exit the Henry Hudson Parkway at Riverside Drive, which is immediately past the George Washington Bridge.

From Westchester, Connecticut, or the East Side of Manhattan via the Major Deegan, Cross-Bronx Expressway, or Harlem River Drive approaching the George Washington Bridge:

Take the Henry Hudson Parkway, stay to the left, and follow signs to Riverside Drive.

From the West Side of Manhattan:

Take the Henry Hudson Parkway to exit 15 for Riverside Drive South
