Making better healthcare products possible SM

Course "Quality Control Laboratory Compliance - cGMPs and GLPs" has been pre-approved by RAPS as eligible for up to 10 credits towards a participant's RAC recertification upon full completion.

SPEAKER

Bill Schwemer, Principal, Schwemer Consulting, Former Senior official with FDA's Office of the Commissioner

Bill Schwemer is an ex-FDA official having more than 50 years' experience with FDA compliance matters. He has worked as an FDA field Investigator and Compliance Officer, been a senior official with FDA's Office of the Commissioner and was V-P of RA/QA at a Personal Care Products Company. Mr. Schwemer worked in all program areas, but has consulted primarily with pharmaceutical and personal care products companies.

He has published more than 125 articles and since becoming a consultant has successfully served as a regulatory compliance expert witness in 20 lawsuits.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Key goals of the conference will include learning:

- ✓ The basics of FDA law and regulations governing QC laboratories responsible for testing research materials, components of FDA-regulated products, and finished FDA-regulated products (pharmaceuticals, biologics, medical devices, cosmetics, and foods).
- ✓ Laboratory organization, personnel qualification and training requirements.
- ✓ Documentation and record-keeping requirements, including e-records and data integrity.
- ✓ Sample integrity requirements.
- ✓ Management and control of stability (shelf-life) studies
- ✓ Analytical methods verification and validation.
- ✓ Management and control of laboratory instruments.
- ✓ Management and control of laboratory supplies.
- ✓ Proper conduct of laboratory investigations.
- ✓ Consequences of laboratory non-compliance.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

FDA inspection and oversight of quality control (QC) laboratories are essential elements of the agency's evaluation of the compliance status of regulated companies representing multiple industries - pharmaceuticals, biologics, medical devices, as well as foods and cosmetics - as well as the contract QC laboratories which service these industries. Lack of compliance can result in severe regulatory actions, criminal liability, fines, and the inability to obtain product approvals.

This course will examine the fundamental requirements for all QC laboratories subject to FDA inspection, recent trends from FDA inspection reports and enforcement actions.

In addition, this course will include a list of relevant regulations and guidelines and demonstrate how quality control and quality assurance personnel can monitor industry practices to stay "current" with FDA requirements (cGMPs and GLPs).

Seminar instructor Bill Schwemer is an ex-FDA official having more than 50 years of experience in dealing with FDA compliance matters that include 30 years he spent working with the FDA as a field Investigator, Director of Field Investigations, Assistant Associate Commissioner for Regulatory Affairs and Special Assistant to Deputy Commissioner for Policy.
