The logo of the 12th IFEA World Endodontic Congress depicts the colours of the Indian tricolour flag in the form of a rainbow with the Chakra or Wheel radiating the sunshine of knowledge set on the backdrop of the Shore Temple of Mahabalipuram.

The top band of the Indian national flag is of Saffron colour, indicating strength and courage while White middle band indicates peace and truth. The bottom band is Green in colour depicting the fertility, growth and auspiciousness of the land. The "Ashoka Chakra" or Wheel of Dharma (Virtue) in the centre of the white band is a depiction of the Buddhist Dharma Chakra, represented with 24 spokes and symbolises the dynamism of virtuous change as there is death in stagnation and life in movement.

The Shore Temple of Mahabalipuram (built in 700 - 728 AD) is situated in the outskirts of Chennai and is so named as it overlooks the shores of the Bay of Bengal sea. An architectural marvel, it has been classified as a UNESCO World Heritage Site and is one of the oldest structural stone temples of South India.

Can words describe 3.2 million sq kms
of the Indian subcontinent?

Can pictures capture a terrain as diverse as verdant forests, golden deserts and the majestic Himalayan Range?

Can stories tell you all you want to know about the complex cultures of the Indian people, their languages, and dialects, their rituals and traditions?

To feel her magic, be touched by her spirituality,
experience her intensity or join in her celebrations,
YOU have to be in INDIA!!!

Chennai

Gateway to culture of South India

Chennai, Land of Temples formerly known as Madras, is the capital of the Indian state of Tamil Nadu. It is located on the southeast coast of India, overlooking the Bay of Bengal.

Chennai is a window to the fascinating world of South Indian architecture, music, dance, drama, sculpture and other arts. Every year, the city hosts a five-week long Music Season. The city prides itself on traditional forms of music (Carnatic) and dance (Bharatanatyam).
