

Update in Nephrology & Hypertension 2020

Common Nephrology Syndromes:
What Every Primary Care Physician Should Know
April 4, 2020 | Omni Jacksonville Hotel

Saturday, April 4, 2020

|                  |                                                                                                        |
|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 8:00 – 8:25 AM   | Registration, Exhibits, &amp; Breakfast                                                         |
| 8:25 – 8:30 AM   | Welcome and Overview                                                                            |
| 8:30 – 9:00 AM   | SLE and Effects on the KidneyRonald Mars, MD, FACP, FASN                                    |
| 9:00 – 9:30 AM   | Nutrition in Renal DiseaseAlan Halperin, MD and Kayla Fisher, RDN, CDE                      |
| 9:30 – 10:00 AM  | Diagnosis and Treatment of Urinary Tract InfectionsCarmen Isache, MD                        |
| 10:00 – 10:30 AM | Indications and Use of Anticoagulants in Patients with CKDVishal Jaikaransingh, MD          |
| 10:30 – 11:00 AM | Break &amp; Exhibits                                                                            |
| 11:00 – 11:30 AM | Current Standards in the Management of Kidney Transplant RecipientsPradeep Kadambi, MD, MBA |
| 11:30 – 12:00 PM | Controversies in Hypertension ManagementLeighton R. James, MD                               |
| 12:00 – 12:30 PM | Update in the Diagnosis and Management of Diabetic NephropathyCharles Heilig, MD            |
| 12:30 – 12:40 PM | Lunch Pick Up                                                                                   |
| 12:40 – 1:40 PM  | Luncheon with Faculty Panel Q&amp;A                                                             |
| 1:40 PM          | Adjourn                                                                                                |