Homeopathy is a form of medical treatment over 225 years old. It is prescribed by Doctors across Europe, the Middle East India and increasingly in the United States and used by over 500,000,000 people annually. It is regarded as a gentle, effective method of immune stimulation, facilitating healing in chronic and acute conditions. MD. Anderson research and NCH research are discovering effectiveness with specific homeopathic remedies in cancer treatment and side effect mitigation for those in traditional treatment.
